CIO-CWA Calls Walkout Against Western Electric

Bell Workers Won't Cross Picket Lines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The CIO - Communications Workers of America tonight called a strike of Western Electric employes in 43 states and every large city across the nation at 6 a. m., Thursday, Nov. 9.

About 16,685 workers will be involved but pickets will be thrown around telephone exchanges in every sizeable town, President Joseph A. Beirne said in a statement.

The parent CWA union, representing 300,000 workers in the Bell Telephone System, will not cross picket lines, Beirne said.

The strike will directly involve 10,000 workers in the Western Electric installation department in all states except Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island; 6,000 distributing house employees in 28 major cities scattered throughout the nation; and 685 manufacturing workers in Haverhill, Mass.

Talks Will Continue

Beirne said that efforts would be made between now and the strike deadline to reach satisfactory settlements with Western Electric Company. He said the international union had taken complete charge of the negotiating sessions.

Western Electric Company is the manufacturing subsidiary of the Bell System.

The strike call results from a dispute over wage increases demanded by the union. It seeks what it calls "substantial" increases, without naming a figure.

The installation workers have been offered an average increase of 11 and half cents an hour, but Beirne said it was "poorly distributed throughout the various wage levels." A 10-cent hourly raise was offered the distributing house workers, while the Haverhill employes were offered eight cents an hour, plus an additional increase for bonus workers which would bring the average up to 10 cents an hour.

WE Seeks 18-Month Pact

The company is seeking an 18-month contract with no reopening provisions in all three cases, the union said. That, plus the "unsatisfactory way in which the company wants the wage increases distributed,' makes the company offers unacceptable, Beirne said.

The union estimated that the average hourly earnings of the workers involved is now $1.50.

The proposed strike would be the first conducted by CWA since it was formed in 1947 after a nationwide strike of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, the predecessor to CWA.

Skunk Breaks Up Video Show

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP) — A little skunk named "Sweet William" broke up the Kukla Fran and Ollie television show tonight with an unexpected performance.

The National Broadcasting Company's TV shows stars comely Fran Allison and puppets Kukla and Ollie.

"Sweet William", a veteran of television shows at Chicago's Lincoln Park, was escorted to the program by Zoo Director Marlin Perkins. The little fellow had been deodorized so no trouble was expected.

Perkins had just lifted Willie onto the stage when Willie let go.

Persons at hand dispersed. But Burr Tillstrom, who operates the puppets, handed Kukla a mop and put him to work while a nationwide audience looked on.

After six minutes of confusion, the show was resumed and "Sweet William" was on his way back to the zoo.

Green Scum On Ponds Is High Nutrient Food

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27 (AP) — That green scum that grows on ponds and streams may someday be an important if slightly fishy tasting food.

So says Dr. Herman A. Spoehr, of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, who already has tasted it.

Dr. Spoehr, speaking yesterday to the American Philosophical Society at its headquarters here, said experiments conducted in California proved the green scum to be a fast-growing, high nutrient food.

U.N. Rejects Red Move To Delay Action On Spain

Resolution Would Ease Franco Ban

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The U. N. Special Political Committee today rebuffed a Soviet bloc move to delay action on a resolution partly removing U. N. bars against Franco Spain.

Guatemala, one of the Latin American members of the U. N., joined the five Russian bloc countries in support of a Polish motion to postpone further debate on Franco Spain until Monday. Thirty-four countries were against and six abstained.

The United States is backing an eight-power resolution which would permit U. N. members to send back to Madrid their top ambassadors and ministers and would open the way for Generalissimo Franco to join specialized agencies of the U. N.

Would Revoke Resolution

The resolution has the effect of revoking an Assembly resolution of 1946 on ambassadors and specialized agencies but it does not touch another Assembly resolution, approved at the first U. N. meeting in London in 1946, barring Franco Spain from U. N. membership. Bolivia, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, the Philippines and Peru introduced the resolution and backed it strongly in opening debate today.

Chile, meanwhile, sounded a call in the 60-nation Political Committee for the U. N. to condemn any iron curtain anywhere in the world that stands against peace and furthering of information. Chile obviously was hitting directly at the Soviet Union.

Amendment To Resolution

Jacobo Schaulsohn of Chile introduced the proposal as an amendment to a six-country resolution which would define aggression as the gravest crime against humanity. Schaulsohn proposed that the Assembly stand out for "the free exchange of information and ideas as one of the bases of good neighbourly relations between peoples."

His proposal defined as propaganda against peace any measure which tends to isolate a people from contact with the outside world, "preventing the press, radio, and other media of communication from reporting international events, hampering knowledge and preventing understanding between" peoples.

Suit To Nullify Subversives Act Filed In Capital

135 Individuals Are Listed As Plaintiffs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP) — A suit designed to enjoin and nullify the new internal security act was filed in U. S. District Court here today.

Brought in the names of 135 individuals, the action attacks the whole law as unconstitutional. The chief complaint is aimed at the requirement that organizations regarded by the Attorney General as Communist must register and disclose financial backing.

One hundred and seven of the plaintiff group sought to file the action here last Monday, but the court refused to accept it then because street addresses of the plaintiffs were not included in the papers offered. The suit was accepted today with the list of plaintiffs enlarged to 135 persons in 32 states. Detailed addresses were supplied.

Among those listed as joining in the action were Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, executive committeewoman for the Communist Party; Arthur Schutzer, executive secretary of the American Labor Party in New York; Prof. Louise Pettibone Smith of Wellesley College; Fred W. Stover, president of the Iowa Farmers' Union; Hugh Bryson, president of the National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards; and Harold Christoffel, former Milwaukee labor leader who is under a two to six year sentence for perjury based on a denial before a House committee that he had any Communist affiliation.

French Planes Blast Vietminh

SAIGON, Vietnam, Indochina, Oct. 27 (AP)—France turned further today toward her air power, limited though it is, to plug gaps in her ground defenses against a Communist bid for control of Indochina.

Junkers transports laboring as bombers and King Cobra fighters teamed up in assaults upon bands of the Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's nationalist Vietminh army, which already has cleared French posts from 400 miles of the border with Communist China.

A military spokesman said the aerial raiders yesterday destroyed the power plant in Langson. French troops had failed to sabotage the plant before they pulled out of that frontier headquarters town 10 days ago.

Other planes struck hard along the frontier to disrupt a budding offensive against the isolated northwestern border post of Laokay and Vietminh concentrations threatening France's abbreviated Dinhlap-Moncay defense line to the east.

Two-Month Party In Hoosegow Ends

CALDWELL, Idaho, Oct. 27 (AP)—The two-month party in the Canyon county jail is over.

Sheriff Ray Luekenga said today he had obtained confessions from two persons. He said three girls and four men were involved.

Luekenga said two keys were made in the jail. They were used to unlock the men's cells and the door to the women's ward. The keys were used only at night — after the lights were turned out.

The sheriff said trysts were held from mid-July until officials discovered the nightly inter-cell visiting Sept. 10.

Workman Freed After Hand Wedged 9 Hours In Machine

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—A young workman was trapped for nine tortuous hours today after his right hand became caught in a machine. He finally was freed with a hacksaw.

Doctors at one time feared they might have to break or amputate the hand. But the prisoner, Stanley Kielma, Jr., suffered no permanent injury.

The ordeal caused him considerable pain. His hand was badly swollen when workmen and firemen released him from his metal trap.

The hand became wedged beneath a three-inch wide collar of a centrifugal machine used to clean tools when Kielma reached into it to retrieve a part that had fallen into the machine's hopper. The machine was not in operation at the time.

It was easy to slip his hand in, because the top of the collar was grease covered. But he could not pull the hand out. A metal nipple, a reducing nut gradually closing the opening, pinned him fast.

Kielma was conscious during most of the long rescue operation by firemen and workmen who used saws, torches and emery grinders. He smoked cigarets, chatted calmly, and refused some sedatives offered by doctors.

Truman Plans Single Major Campaign Talk

Speech Scheduled Nov. 4 In St. Louis

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP) — President Truman will make a single major speech to wind up the national campaign of Democratic congressional candidates on Saturday, Nov. 4, in St. Louis, the White House announced tonight.

The President, heavily pressured by Democratic candidates to lend his voice to their House and Senate candidacies, will be heard over the four nationwide networks at 10 p. m., EST.

The address will be delivered from Kiel auditorium, in St. Louis, where Mr. Truman wound up his victorious 1948 presidential campaign.

The talk will be 20 to 30 minutes long, and the network time will be paid for by the Democratic National Committee, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters.

"Little White House" Closed

The President will stop in St. Louis en route home to vote at Independence, Mo. Since the "Little White House", at Independence is closed temporarily, he will stay in Kansas City until his return to Washington after he has cast his usual early ballot on election day, Tuesday, Nov. 7.

The White House said the address will be Mr. Truman's sole major effort in behalf of the party candidates between now and election. He had been expected to make at least one western "whistle stop" tour, but that idea was dropped in view of the Korean war.

Democratic Chairman William M. Boyle has visited the White House almost daily through the last week in an effort to persuade the President to make at least one speech, in or out of Washington.

Itinerary Indefinite

Ross said that in the St. Louis speech Mr. Truman will "summarize and restate the issues of the campaign" in the light of the party platform.

The itinerary of the Missouri trip still is highly indefinite. He will spend Saturday night in St. Louis at the Jefferson Hotel and leave Sunday morning for Kansas City, where he will stay at the Muehlebach Hotel.

On Monday, Nov. 6, he will take part in ceremonies at Independence, dedicating a liberty bell sent to the President's home town by the people of Annecy, France.

Veteran Kills "Y" Secretary

ATLANTA, Oct. 27 (AP)—An evicted and violently-disgruntled former YMCA resident shot down and killed the general secretary on the "Y" steps today, then took refuge in an evangelistic crusade office until police came for him.

The victim was William L. Parker, 60, widely known for YMCA work here, at Miami, Minneapolis and elsewhere. He died at a hospital with two pistol wounds in the head, one in the chest and two in the side.

As a half dozen stunned witnesses watched, the assailant fired upon Parker in the "Y" doorway. He followed his victim as he staggered down the step and continued to blast him with pistol shots as he lay helpless in shrubbery at the front of the building.

Police Lt. M. M. Coppenger named the pistol-wielding attacker as Ellis Hogan, 36, a pensioned and unemployed veteran of World War II. He said he was thrown out of the "Y" about two years ago after threatening another resident with a lead pipe and slamming a book down on the head of a woman employe.

British Sugar Industry May Be Nationalized

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP) — Britain's Labor government will ask the new Parliament to put the sugar beet industry under state ownership, government sources said today.

The industry supplies one fourth of Britain's sugar. It is operated by a monopoly approved in 1936 by a conservative government. The laws covering the monopoly expire in December.

The plan will be made public in the King's speech opening the new Parliament session Tuesday, the sources said. The King's speech is written by the government and outlines government policies.

The beet sugar move would represent a climbdown from Labor's previously announced aim to take over the sugar industry.

Wounded Yank Gets His Wish

His right leg shattered by machine-gun fire in Korea, Pvt. Stanley W. Riley, Jr., 18, Newington, Conn., realizes one of his first wishes—a chance to play a piano. Orderlies at the Portsmouth Naval Hospital, Kittery, Me., wheeled the piano alongside his bed. Mrs. Thomas D. Mathes, Red Cross Worker, holds the music.

Marshall Names Group To Study Reserve Policy

Committee To Work Out Long-Range Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall today ordered a policy study to take "uncertainties and inequities" out of the reserve systems of the armed forces.

Naming an eight-man committee to work out a long range plan, Marshall said he wanted a strong reserve operated with as little interruption as possible to the nation and the normal life of the individual reservist.

Civilian-Officer Group

The group, made up of civilians and regular and reserve officers, will recommend policies looking to the future. This follows steps ordered by Marshall this week to deal with an immediate situation governing recall of reservists to active duty.

Marshall told all four services to begin allowing 30 day notice before a man must report, and to install systems which would let men know when they are not on current recall lists thus giving them a breathing spell of several months.

Members Are Listed

Committee members are:

Edwin H. Burgess, vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; Brig. Gen. Melvin J. Maas, Marine reservist; Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, commander of the 37th National Guard Division and member of the firm of Vanbolt-Kreber Electrotype Co. of Columbus, Ohio; Brig. Gen. Hugh M. Milton of the organized Army reserve, president of the New Mexico Military Institute; Rear Adm. R. S. Riggs, assistant chief of naval operations for reserves; Maj. Gen. John T. Walker of the Marines; Maj. Gen. George G. Finch of the Air National Guard, and Brig. Gen. Robert L. Copley of the Air Force reserve.

Curtain Of Secrecy Shrouds Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—Negotiators for the CIO United Steelworkers and the United States Steel Corporation dropped a curtain of secrecy around the wage talks they resumed today on the union's demands for a healthy and substantial pay boost.

President Philip Murray of both the CIO and the USW joined Vice President John A. Stephens of Big Steel in issuing a joint statement that the bargainers continued to discuss the union's proposals.

The state also said the company had made no wage offer.

U.N. Council Session

Tenn. 'Law' Seizes Bride, 12, Groom's Jar Of Moonshine

TAZEWELL, Tenn., Oct. 27 (AP) — Sheriff A. N. Munsey said today he cut 25-year-old Fred Bolden's wedding celebration short of seizing the groom's half-gallon jar of moonshine — and the bride.

The blushing bride, Viola, is 12. Munsey said she was locked in a closet when Bolden's family saw "the law" coming.

Bolden was in jail tonight unable to make $2,500 bond, charged with "illegally marrying" Viola Ellison and with possessing whisky, the sheriff said. Tennessee law says a bride must be at least 18.

A little mountain dew is made in the hills here in Claiborne county, but legally this is "dry" territory.

Plane Dives Into Lake, Killing Four

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27 (AP) — Three Air Force officers and one enlisted man were killed today when their navigation training plane crashed into fog - shrouded Lake Pontchartrain a few minutes after taking off.

The plane, based at Scott Air Force base, Belleville, Ill., landed here last night on a flight from Selma, Ala., and was returning to Selma when the crash occurred.

New Orleans airport reported the plane took off at 2 a. m. (CST). The Weather Bureau said the fog this morning was the heaviest to envelop New Orleans this year.

Five minutes after the plane's takeoff, three sentries at the naval air station, two and a half miles from the New Orleans airport but also on the lakefront, reported they heard the plane "smack into the lake."

Early morning search efforts were hampered by the dense fog, preventing boats from going into the lake and hindering hovering aircraft.

The plane was found shortly before 1 p. m. (CST) by a diver from the New Orleans Police Department.

India's Policy Same

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 27 (AP) — Sir Benegal N. Rau, India's chief delegate to the United Nations, said today he knew of no change of Indian policy regarding Red China as a result of the reported invasion of Tibet.

Yank Says AP's William Moore Killed In Action

Died Trying To Help Save Wounded Man

PYONGYANG, Korea, Oct. 27 (AP) —William R. Moore, missing Associated Press correspondent, was killed in action on the South Korean war front, while helping to save a wounded Army lieutenant, a corporal who was captured in the same action said today.

The 40-year-old former Oklahoma City newspaperman, an Army major during World War II, failed to return from a voluntary mission which took him to the Chinju front last July 31. American forces then were making a desperate effort to stem the Red drive on Pusan, only 55 air miles to the east.

Saw Moore's Body

Cpl. Carl M. Anderson, Sioux City, Ia., said Moore had not been captured.

"I saw his body lying in a pool of water," he said. "There were nine of us and some South Koreans. Only one other man and I got out alive—and we were captured."

Anderson said he knew Moore and "there is no mistake about his identity."

"He was taking notes for the AP while he was with us," the corporal added.

The North Koreans attacked July 30, Anderson said, and his outfit—a heavy tank platoon attached to the 24th Division—started a withdrawal.

Helped To Carry Litter

"We had come four miles toward Masan, out of Chinju, when we were stopped by a blown-up bridge," he recalled. "We could not get our tanks across. We had some wounded, including our lieutenant.

"Bill Moore helped carry the litter holding the lieutenant. We made our way under the demolished bridge and stayed there."

"There were eight of us left and Bill made nine, not counting three or four South Koreans who jumped on the back of our tank. I don't know what became of the Koreans.

"Bill was killed between 2 p. m. and 4:30 by mortar, small arms or grenade fire."

Governor Acts As Trucker 'Lays Out' Big Fine In Jail

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The plight of a Philadelphia trucker who is laying out a heavy fine in the Elkhart county jail came to the attention of Gov. Henry F. Schricker today.

The Governor asked Arthur M. Thurston, state police superintendent, to see what could be done.

The Governor acted after receiving a telegram from Mrs. Mary DiDonatis, whose 26-year-old husband, Frank, has been in jail since being fined $1,870 last Friday for driving an over-loaded truck of steel.

DiDonatis says he cannot pay the fine. Under Indiana law, a person unable to pay a fine "lays it out," as the police say, at the rate of $1 a day. Thus, it will take the trucker a few days over five years to satisfy his fine, levied at ten cents on each of the illegal 18,700 pounds.

Mrs. DiDonatis told Gov. Schricker she and her two small children need her husband's financial support. "Will you please be good enough to help him?" she asked.

Thurston said: "Obviously the trucking firm has deserted this man."

Both Thurston and Arthur Campbell, the Governor's secretary, said they had never before heard of a trucking company "deserting" a driver arrested for violation of the truck weight law.

Some Chinese Troops Aiding North Koreans

ROK Forces Pull Back At One Point

SEOUL, Saturday, Oct. 28 (AP) — American and Allied troops hacked out short gains through surprising Red resistance Friday, while South Koreans pulled back at one point in the drive to occupy Korea to its snow-covered borders.

South Korean sources said flatly that Chinese Communist troops, estimated variously from 30,000 to 60,000, had bolstered the Korean Red lines as United Nations forces slogged closer to the Manchurian border.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman in Seoul said the South Korean (ROK) First Division had beaten back an attack by a Communist force composed of "Chinese and North Korean elements" 50 miles south of the border near Unsan.

Whether the Chinese had entered the fight in overt, organized fashion was still to be determined.

62 Dead Chinese Counted

At least some Chinese were fighting against the Allied advance. An American adviser with the South Korean First Division said 62 dead Chinese were counted on a battlefield near Unsan in Northwestern Korea Friday. He did not say how they were identified as Chinese.

The answer to the presence of Chinese in the Communist ranks might be found in the statement of a Chinese soldier captured Thursday near Unsan.

The Chinese, who said he was Pvt. Li Shin-Man, 34, told interrogators that he and other Chinese troops sent into Korea to help the North Korean Reds in the past two weeks were not "old Communists," but were former Chinese Nationalist soldiers.

Li told American questioners that he understood 40,000 Chinese troops had been sent into Korea in the past two weeks and that he himself entered nine days ago.

"We were just following orders," he said. He hinted that most Chinese did not relish the assignment and were not fighting with enthusiasm.

U. S. Guns Support ROKs

Other Chinese captured in the past few days also have said that many thousands of Chinese Red troops had entered the war on the side of the North Koreans.

Heavy American guns supporting the South Koreans drove the enemy back during Thursday night.

The American officer said Gen. Paik Sun Yup, commander of the South Korean First Division, reported the Chinese had withdrawn northwest of Unsan.

The republican First and Sixth Divisions were struggling to secure the road from Pakchon, near the Yellow Sea on the west coast, to the Manchurian border at Chosan.

From Unsan, 20 miles north of Pakchon, the First Division sent two regiments northward to make contact with elements of the Sixth Division near Onjong, 10 miles north of Unsan.

The Sixth Division's northernmost spearhead, which reached the Manchurian border town of Chosan Thursday, pulled back voluntarily Friday because of supply problems.

"Ike" Receptive To Treaty Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that if he is named as supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe "I am a soldier and will do as I am told to do."

Eisenhower also called for intensive effort to build up "real strength" in the now fast-developing program to unite the military forces of the 12 North Atlantic treaty nations in a common defense against Soviet aggression.

The five-star General, whose name has figured in speculation as the No. 1 prospect for the top command post, is scheduled to confer with President Truman tomorrow and it appeared that a formal announcement of his appointment may be forthcoming in the near future.

An American spokesman said the committee of North Atlantic defense ministers, which meets tomorrow, will propose the country from which a supreme commander should be named. The government of that country will then select the man to command.

Strong support for Eisenhower came meanwhile from Canada's minister of national defense, Brooke Claxton, on his arrival here for the conference of defense ministers.

"I don't know of anyone better who could be named," Claxton told a news conference.

Doctors at one time feared they might have to break or amputate the hand. But the prisoner, Stanley Kielma, Jr., suffered no permanent injury.

The ordeal caused him considerable pain. His hand was badly swollen when workmen and firemen released him from his metal trap.

The hand became wedged beneath a three-inch wide collar of a centrifugal machine used to clean tools when Kielma reached into it to retrieve a part that had fallen into the machine's hopper. The machine was not in operation at the time.

It was easy to slip his hand in, because the top of the collar was grease covered. But he could not pull the hand out. A metal nipple, a reducing nut gradually closing the opening, pinned him fast.

Kielma was conscious during most of the long rescue operation by firemen and workmen who used saws, torches and emery grinders. He smoked cigarets, chatted calmly, and refused some sedatives offered by doctors.

Truman Plans Single Major Campaign Talk

Speech Scheduled Nov. 4 In St. Louis

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP) — President Truman will make a single major speech to wind up the national campaign of Democratic congressional candidates on Saturday, Nov. 4, in St. Louis, the White House announced tonight.

The President, heavily pressured by Democratic candidates to lend his voice to their House and Senate candidacies, will be heard over the four nationwide networks at 10 p. m., EST.

The address will be delivered from Kiel auditorium, in St. Louis, where Mr. Truman wound up his victorious 1948 presidential campaign.

The talk will be 20 to 30 minutes long, and the network time will be paid for by the Democratic National Committee, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters.

"Little White House" Closed

The President will stop in St. Louis en route home to vote at Independence, Mo. Since the "Little White House", at Independence is closed temporarily, he will stay in Kansas City until his return to Washington after he has cast his usual early ballot on election day, Tuesday, Nov. 7.

The White House said the address will be Mr. Truman's sole major effort in behalf of the party candidates between now and election. He had been expected to make at least one western "whistle stop" tour, but that idea was dropped in view of the Korean war.

Democratic Chairman William M. Boyle has visited the White House almost daily through the last week in an effort to persuade the President to make at least one speech, in or out of Washington.

Itinerary Indefinite

Ross said that in the St. Louis speech Mr. Truman will "summarize and restate the issues of the campaign" in the light of the party platform.

The itinerary of the Missouri trip still is highly indefinite. He will spend Saturday night in St. Louis at the Jefferson Hotel and leave Sunday morning for Kansas City, where he will stay at the Muehlebach Hotel.

On Monday, Nov. 6, he will take part in ceremonies at Independence, dedicating a liberty bell sent to the President's home town by the people of Annecy, France.

Veteran Kills "Y" Secretary

ATLANTA, Oct. 27 (AP)—An evicted and violently-disgruntled former YMCA resident shot down and killed the general secretary on the "Y" steps today, then took refuge in an evangelistic crusade office until police came for him.

The victim was William L. Parker, 60, widely known for YMCA work here, at Miami, Minneapolis and elsewhere. He died at a hospital with two pistol wounds in the head, one in the chest and two in the side.

As a half dozen stunned witnesses watched, the assailant fired upon Parker in the "Y" doorway. He followed his victim as he staggered down the step and continued to blast him with pistol shots as he lay helpless in shrubbery at the front of the building.

Police Lt. M. M. Coppenger named the pistol-wielding attacker as Ellis Hogan, 36, a pensioned and unemployed veteran of World War II. He said he was thrown out of the "Y" about two years ago after threatening another resident with a lead pipe and slamming a book down on the head of a woman employe.

British Sugar Industry May Be Nationalized

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP) — Britain's Labor government will ask the new Parliament to put the sugar beet industry under state ownership, government sources said today.

The industry supplies one fourth of Britain's sugar. It is operated by a monopoly approved in 1936 by a conservative government. The laws covering the monopoly expire in December.

The plan will be made public in the King's speech opening the new Parliament session Tuesday, the sources said. The King's speech is written by the government and outlines government policies.

The beet sugar move would represent a climbdown from Labor's previously announced aim to take over the sugar industry.

Wounded Yank Gets His Wish

His right leg shattered by machine-gun fire in Korea, Pvt. Stanley W. Riley, Jr., 18, Newington, Conn., realizes one of his first wishes—a chance to play a piano. Orderlies at the Portsmouth Naval Hospital, Kittery, Me., wheeled the piano alongside his bed. Mrs. Thomas D. Mathes, Red Cross Worker, holds the music.

Marshall Names Group To Study Reserve Policy

Committee To Work Out Long-Range Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall today ordered a policy study to take "uncertainties and inequities" out of the reserve systems of the armed forces.

Naming an eight-man committee to work out a long range plan, Marshall said he wanted a strong reserve operated with as little interruption as possible to the nation and the normal life of the individual reservist.

Civilian-Officer Group

The group, made up of civilians and regular and reserve officers, will recommend policies looking to the future. This follows steps ordered by Marshall this week to deal with an immediate situation governing recall of reservists to active duty.

Marshall told all four services to begin allowing 30 day notice before a man must report, and to install systems which would let men know when they are not on current recall lists thus giving them a breathing spell of several months.

Members Are Listed

Committee members are:

Edwin H. Burgess, vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; Brig. Gen. Melvin J. Maas, Marine reservist; Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, commander of the 37th National Guard Division and member of the firm of Vanbolt-Kreber Electrotype Co. of Columbus, Ohio; Brig. Gen. Hugh M. Milton of the organized Army reserve, president of the New Mexico Military Institute; Rear Adm. R. S. Riggs, assistant chief of naval operations for reserves; Maj. Gen. John T. Walker of the Marines; Maj. Gen. George G. Finch of the Air National Guard, and Brig. Gen. Robert L. Copley of the Air Force reserve.

Curtain Of Secrecy Shrouds Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—Negotiators for the CIO United Steelworkers and the United States Steel Corporation dropped a curtain of secrecy around the wage talks they resumed today on the union's demands for a healthy and substantial pay boost.

President Philip Murray of both the CIO and the USW joined Vice President John A. Stephens of Big Steel in issuing a joint statement that the bargainers continued to discuss the union's proposals.

The state also said the company had made no wage offer.

U.N. Council Session

Tenn. 'Law' Seizes Bride, 12, Groom's Jar Of Moonshine

TAZEWELL, Tenn., Oct. 27 (AP) — Sheriff A. N. Munsey said today he cut 25-year-old Fred Bolden's wedding celebration short of seizing the groom's half-gallon jar of moonshine — and the bride.

The blushing bride, Viola, is 12. Munsey said she was locked in a closet when Bolden's family saw "the law" coming.

Bolden was in jail tonight unable to make $2,500 bond, charged with "illegally marrying" Viola Ellison and with possessing whisky, the sheriff said. Tennessee law says a bride must be at least 18.

A little mountain dew is made in the hills here in Claiborne county, but legally this is "dry" territory.

Plane Dives Into Lake, Killing Four

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27 (AP) — Three Air Force officers and one enlisted man were killed today when their navigation training plane crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Pontchartrain a few minutes after taking off.

The plane, based at Scott Air Force base, Belleville, Ill., landed here last night on a flight from Selma, Ala., and was returning to Selma when the crash occurred.

New Orleans airport reported the plane took off at 2 a. m. (CST). The Weather Bureau said the fog this morning was the heaviest to envelop New Orleans this year.

Five minutes after the plane's takeoff, three sentries at the naval air station, two and a half miles from the New Orleans airport but also on the lakefront, reported they heard the plane "smack into the lake."

Early morning search efforts were hampered by the dense fog, preventing boats from going into the lake and hindering hovering aircraft.

The plane was found shortly before 1 p. m. (CST) by a diver from the New Orleans Police Department.

India's Policy Same

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 27 (AP) — Sir Benegal N. Rau, India's chief delegate to the United Nations, said today he knew of no change of Indian policy regarding Red China as a result of the reported invasion of Tibet.

Yank Says AP's William Moore Killed In Action

Died Trying To Help Save Wounded Man

PYONGYANG, Korea, Oct. 27 (AP) —William R. Moore, missing Associated Press correspondent, was killed in action on the South Korean war front, while helping to save a wounded Army lieutenant, a corporal who was captured in the same action said today.

The 40-year-old former Oklahoma City newspaperman, an Army major during World War II, failed to return from a voluntary mission which took him to the Chinju front last July 31. American forces then were making a desperate effort to stem the Red drive on Pusan, only 55 air miles to the east.

Saw Moore's Body

Cpl. Carl M. Anderson, Sioux City, Ia., said Moore had not been captured.

"I saw his body lying in a pool of water," he said. "There were nine of us and some South Koreans. Only one other man and I got out alive—and we were captured."

Anderson said he knew Moore and "there is no mistake about his identity."

"He was taking notes for the AP while he was with us," the corporal added.

The North Koreans attacked July 30, Anderson said, and his outfit—a heavy tank platoon attached to the 24th Division—started a withdrawal.

Helped To Carry Litter

"We had come four miles toward Masan, out of Chinju, when we were stopped by a blown-up bridge," he recalled. "We could not get our tanks across. We had some wounded, including our lieutenant.

"Bill Moore helped carry the litter holding the lieutenant. We made our way under the demolished bridge and stayed there."

Anderson continued:

"There were eight of us left and Bill made nine, not counting three or four South Koreans who jumped on the back of our tank. I don't know what became of the Koreans.

"Bill was killed between 2 p. m. and 4:30 by mortar, small arms or grenade fire."

Governor Acts As Trucker 'Lays Out' Big Fine In Jail

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The plight of a Philadelphia trucker who is laying out a heavy fine in the Elkhart county jail came to the attention of Gov. Henry F. Schricker today.

The Governor asked Arthur M. Thurston, state police superintendent, to see what could be done.

The Governor acted after receiving a telegram from Mrs. Mary DiDonatis, whose 26-year-old husband, Frank, has been in jail since being fined $1,870 last Friday for driving an over-loaded truck of steel.

DiDonatis says he cannot pay the fine. Under Indiana law, a person unable to pay a fine "lays it out," as the police say, at the rate of $1 a day. Thus, it will take the trucker a few days over five years to satisfy his fine, levied at ten cents on each of the illegal 18,700 pounds.

Mrs. DiDonatis told Gov. Schricker she and her two small children need her husband's financial support. "Will you please be good enough to help him?" she asked.

Thurston said: "Obviously the trucking firm has deserted this man."

Both Thurston and Arthur Campbell, the Governor's secretary, said they had never before heard of a trucking company "deserting" a driver arrested for violation of the truck weight law.

Some Chinese Troops Aiding North Koreans

ROK Forces Pull Back At One Point

SEOUL, Saturday, Oct. 28 (AP) — American and Allied troops hacked out short gains through surprising Red resistance Friday, while South Koreans pulled back at one point in the drive to occupy Korea to its snow-covered borders.

South Korean sources said flatly that Chinese Communist troops, estimated variously from 30,000 to 60,000, had bolstered the Korean Red lines as United Nations forces slogged closer to the Manchurian border.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman in Seoul said the South Korean (ROK) First Division had beaten back an attack by a Communist force composed of "Chinese and North Korean elements" 50 miles south of the border near Unsan.

Whether the Chinese had entered the fight in overt, organized fashion was still to be determined.

62 Dead Chinese Counted

At least some Chinese were fighting against the Allied advance. An American adviser with the South Korean First Division said 62 dead Chinese were counted on a battlefield near Unsan in Northwestern Korea Friday. He did not say how they were identified as Chinese.

The answer to the presence of Chinese in the Communist ranks might be found in the statement of a Chinese soldier captured Thursday near Unsan.

The Chinese, who said he was Pvt. Li Shin-Man, 34, told interrogators that he and other Chinese troops sent into Korea to help the North Korean Reds in the past two weeks were not "old Communists," but were former Chinese Nationalist soldiers.

Li told American questioners that he understood 40,000 Chinese troops had been sent into Korea in the past two weeks and that he himself entered nine days ago.

"We were just following orders," he said. He hinted that most Chinese did not relish the assignment and were not fighting with enthusiasm.

U. S. Guns Support ROKs

Other Chinese captured in the past few days also have said that many thousands of Chinese Red troops had entered the war on the side of the North Koreans.

Heavy American guns supporting the South Koreans drove the enemy back during Thursday night.

The American officer said Gen. Paik Sun Yup, commander of the South Korean First Division, reported the Chinese had withdrawn northwest of Unsan.

The republican First and Sixth Divisions were struggling to secure the road from Pakchon, near the Yellow Sea on the west coast, to the Manchurian border at Chosan.

From Unsan, 20 miles north of Pakchon, the First Division sent two regiments northward to make contact with elements of the Sixth Division near Onjong, 10 miles north of Unsan.

The Sixth Division's northernmost spearhead, which reached the Manchurian border town of Chosan Thursday, pulled back voluntarily Friday because of supply problems.

"Ike" Receptive To Treaty Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that if he is named as supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe "I am a soldier and will do as I am told to do."

Eisenhower also called for intensive effort to build up "real strength" in the now fast-developing program to unite the military forces of the 12 North Atlantic treaty nations in a common defense against Soviet aggression.

The five-star General, whose name has figured in speculation as the No. 1 prospect for the top command post, is scheduled to confer with President Truman tomorrow and it appeared that a formal announcement of his appointment may be forthcoming in the near future.

An American spokesman said the committee of North Atlantic defense ministers, which meets tomorrow, will propose the country from which a supreme commander should be named. The government of that country will then select the man to command.

Strong support for Eisenhower came meanwhile from Canada's minister of national defense, Brooke Claxton, on his arrival here for the conference of defense ministers.

"I don't know of anyone better who could be named," Claxton told a news conference.

County Aid Requested In Sewage Plans

The chairman of the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission asked the Allegany County Board of County Commissioners in a letter yesterday to consider the possibility of obtaining county aid for a sewage system in the Georges Creek section in a letter to the board.

Dr. William E. Moseley, chairman of the commission, said in his letter that Gustave Requardt, of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, a Baltimore engineering firm, has informed the group that the probable cost of a trunk sewage line running from Frostburg to Westernport and a sewage treatment plant below Westernport would be approximately $1,600,000.

"No one who is acquainted with the area in question will deny the need of such a system, but as you know Allegany county and particularly the Georges Creek area has been and continues to be a distress area," Dr. Moseley stated.

"A commission has been appointed to make a thorough study of this distress area and to find ways and means of relieving this terrible economic condition," he added.

"We of the sanitary commission sincerely believe that the completion of this project would do much to relieve the situation in this area and would give an opportunity for the commission making this study and you as county commissioners, to materially aid the Georges Creek area, if ways and means could be found whereby part of this construction of an over-all sewage system could be achieved," Dr. Moseley stated.

The construction of the proposed trunk sewage line and disposal plant below Westernport would be felt in many ways, it was pointed out.

First—A more healthful condition would result immediately by having the proper service provided for the area.

Second—The condition of Georges Creek itself would be naturally improved and the Potomac river would also necessarily be improved. There is a possibility when such systems become county-wide, the rivers and streams of Western Maryland can become an asset instead of a liability.

Third—With the improvement of health conditions, improved stream conditions, it would also improve the value of real estate and economic conditions of the area.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

You'll never be caught looking unattractive if you make these simple precautions your habit!

Beauty is a habit. After following prescribed rites, I have seen so-called "plain Janes" blossom into beauties!

To discover the real value of any beauty routine, you must follow it regularly. You can't hope to apply cosmetics expertly if you use them only when you are expecting visitors or are going out. Hurriedly or carelessly applied cosmetics are worse than none at all. Only by wearing your beauty every day, all day, can you hope to perfect it.

Beauty Habit

Every morning, immediately upon arising, cleanse your face and apply a light protective foundation. This base not only adds to your morning appearance, but does a day-long job of keeping your skin clean and smooth. Blend in a touch of rouge and lightly dust on a bit of face powder.

If you are rushed for time and inexpert at wielding your lipstick brush, apply your lipstick with the stick itself—but apply it. Then later in the day find time to practice with your brush so that you can turn your lip rouge application into a lighting operation that is perfection. This is important because a lipstick brush is the only instrument that insures a really beautiful mouth.

Now use that other important brush to coax your hair into a neat arrangement.

Neatness is the beginning of the beauty habit, but not the end, by a long shot! To bring out your most striking facial attributes you must make a study of them. Set aside fifteen minutes a day to explore seriously your possibilities.

Know Your Possibilities

Survey the types and colors of cosmetics that are best for your skin and color. Then learn to apply them to your best advantage. If you are in doubt, seek the advice of the experts behind your favorite cosmetic counter.

Devote some time to finding the best imaginable hair style. Practice until you can manage it with a flick of a brush.

Suddenly one morning, you will notice that your study and practice periods are beginning to pay off. You' find yourself actually looking prettier in your off moments than you used to be when dressed for the most special occasion. You will be that rare breakfast companion who starts the day off right for anyone within viewing distance!

Planned Murder

Atrocities committed by the North Koreans against helpless American prisoners are enough to make any decent man's blood boil. The death marches and the starvation and shooting of helpless prisoners reveal all the innate viciousness of the regime set up, supported and advised by Soviet Russia.

Other American prisoners remain in enemy custody and may have been transported to Manchuria or Siberia. Shocking as these massacres are, they are no worse than those committed within recent memory by Russia. The Moscow regime was responsible for the Katyn massacre of 10,000 Polish prisoners and has set up an iron curtain behind which it can conceal any unspeakable crime.

The people of Korea were brutalized by 35 years of Japanese rule, to which they responded by underground resistance in which any cruelty seemed patriotic and just vengeance. U. S. intelligence, early in the campaign, had trouble with the vengeful habit of South Koreans who often left them no live prisoners to interrogate.

The South Koreans couldn't see that the wanton destroyers of their homes were entitled to any consideration. This feeling was not hard to understand.

What has been happening in North Korea belongs in another category. It is not spontaneous, undisciplined vengeance, but planned and deliberate murder. Prisoners who were kept alive at first were massacred later, under orders, after the tide of battle turned. The men responsible for that are entitled to no mercy.

Flight From Freedom

Not all of the facts concerning the disappearance of Bruno Pontecorvo, the naturalized British atomic scientist who has not been seen on this side of the iron curtain since September 2, are clear. For example, he may be in Moscow or he may not. But it is certain he has been lost to sight of free men.

The story of Bruno Pontecorvo's journey from Italy, where he had gone for a vacation after resigning from the big British atomic research center at Harwell, is fascinating and frightening. Apparently none of his friends had thought much of it when he started out with his family for Copenhagen—after all, he was to have become professor of experimental physics at Liverpool University in January. And it was not until six weeks after he had left Rome that Italian newspapers reported he had vanished.

It was possible to trace him as far as Helsinki. He and his Swedish wife and his three children had gone from Rome to Copenhagen, from Copenhagen to Stockholm, and then to the Finnish capital. They had not stopped in Stockholm, though Mrs. Pontecorvo's parents live only a 15-minute ride from the airlines office. They had gone to Helsinki without visas, and their passports were taken up. But apparently they had no further use for them. It appears they boarded a Soviet ship bound for Russia.

What Pontecorvo knew about atomic weapons is in dispute. It is not known whether he went to Russia voluntarily or by command. But there is no doubt that if he and his family are alive and in Soviet territory they have turned their backs on freedom forever.

First Things First

As usual, Winston Churchill went straight to the heart of the matter in his speech at the recent annual conference of the British Conservative party. Overcrowding and slums, he declared, breed more illness than all the doctors in the National Health Service can cure.

If his party should be returned to power in the next general election, one of its first concerns would be housing, according to the Conservative leader. Funds for it would be given precedence over those for medical care.

There can be little doubt that under the present government, with its strict food controls, the diet of the lowest segment of the British population has been vastly improved. This has brought correspondingly better health for that group, especially for the children. Another comparable basic requirement for good health is proper shelter under sanitary conditions. Mr. Churchill does well to point out that healthful living conditions are the "ounce of prevention" which "is worth a pound of cure."

Friends At Last

Nations, like individuals, sometimes do forgive their enemies. Greece and Turkey are working on a mutual defense agreement, to be supplemented by like pacts with Italy and other Mediterranean countries. This is surprising, because for many years no country harbored more bitter feeling toward another than that which Greece felt for Turkey. It was born in the centuries of the cruel and inefficient government of the Turkish sultans. To the resentment which an oppressed people naturally feels toward its rulers was added religious hostility between the Christian Greeks and the Moslem Turks.

Finally some 125 years ago Greece succeeded in freeing itself, but hostility still remained. As lately as 1912 the two countries were at war. After World War I a great source of friction was abolished by a wholesale transfer of populations, Greek subjects of Turkey moving to Greece while Turkish subjects of Greece moved to Turkey. Since then the two nations have been drawn together by a realization that in the dangerous world of today no country can afford the luxury of a traditional enmity.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Infectious Mononucleosis

INFECTIOUS mononucleosis is a long and frightening name for a disease that is relatively mild, cures itself, and is about as contagious as a carbuncle. At one time this ailment was known as "glandular fever."

Its most important phases are sore throat, rise in temperature, swelling of the spleen, and enlargement of the glands in the neck, groin and armpit. Not all sufferers have these symtoms and in most instances one is more prominent than the others. Swelling of the glands, for example, may be the only finding, whereas others are bothered principally by fever or sore throat. One of the best ways to remember the condition is to think of it as a cold that lingers longer than it should. The disturbance is more prevalent among children and young adults and now and then descends upon a community in epidemic proportions.

The cause is not known but a virus is the probable culprit. Because a study of the blood is required to make the diagnosis, many cases undoubtedly escape detection. This is particularly true in youngsters who are thought to have a mild respiratory infection. Furthermore, the condition subsides spontaneously and whenever this occurs a battery of blood tests rarely is deemed necessary. Other organs than the lymph glands and spleen may be involved. In many cases the liver is affected, occasionally to such an extent that jaundice develops. Involvement of the nervous system also takes place, leading to symptoms simulating meningitis or polio.

So far, there is no specific cure. Early reports of the value of aureomycin already have been questioned. The initial studies were so encouraging that we were ready to add glandular fever to the list of diseases that were being overcome by the newer antibiotic. The damper was placed on these reports by an article that appeared earlier this year in the Journal of the American Medical association. A series of 47 patients were treated; some received aureomycin; other, a similar appearing capsule in which sugar was substituted for the antibiotic. When the final tabulation was made, the results were approximately the same. In other words, cures attributed to aureomycin probably were spontaneous. Additional studies will be necessary before this question is answered once and for all.

Meanwhile we must resort to the old reliables. Improvement is more rapid if the patient remains quietly in bed, particularly when fever or distress is present. A salt water gargle eases sore throat and a hot water bottle is soothing to enlarged glands that are tender or painful. Liver complications are combated mainly with diet; foods rich in carbohydrates and protein are recommended and fats are taboo. In addition, vitamin B, choline, and liver injections are given. To allay apprehension, all the victim need know is that few if any have failed to recover.

BODY TEMPERATURE

M. T. writes: My temperature is 97 degrees when I get up in the morning. Is this unusual?

REPLY

No. In fact, there may be a variation of as much as three degrees in a 24 hour period. The reading is highest around 4 p. m. and lowest in the wee small hours. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on body temperature.

GRANDMOTHER'S REMEDY

H. J. writes: Does sassafras tea raise or lower the blood pressure or thin or thicken the blood?

REPLY

To my knowledge, the substance has none of these effects. Neither will it cause hair to grow on bald pates or removed warts or bunions.

INFLAMED LIP

J. L. writes: For almost two years I have had trouble with my lips due to a cut on the lower lip. The case has been diagnosed as chilitis exfoliativa and X-ray treatment has not helped. What is the cause of this trouble and is there a cure?

REPLY

In this condition, fissures or cracks appear at the corners of the mouth. The lesions usually are due to seborrheic dermatitis, exposure to wind and sun, or licking the lips frequently. Removal of the cause is essential to cure. On the other hand, when a previous cut is responsible, a more thoro examination will be required.

NOT INHERITED

Mrs. E. writes: Is umbilical hernia hereditary?

REPLY

No. The condition is common in children and merely represents weakness of the muscles surrounding the navel.

Powerful Forces Combined Against Mrs. Douglas In California Campaign For Senator; Sen. Malone May Have Had Eye On Business Benefit To Home State

Says DREW PEARSON

On Tuesday, September 26, Drew Pearson began a series of columns about the sleight-of-hand operations on the part of Congressman Walter Brehm, Ohio Republican, who for three years carried elderly Mrs. Clara Soliday of Ohio on his Congressional payroll, and required her to kick back approximately half her salary.

Subsequent Pearson columns on October 2 and October 9 piled up more evidence on the Ohio Congressman's kickback operation.

Despite Congressman Brehm's vigorous denials of the Pearson charges, the accuracy of the latter's story was substantiated on Tuesday, October 24, when Mrs. Soliday entered suit in Ohio against the Congressman in an attempt to recover $7,340 in back pay, which she claimed he had taken from her during the three-year period she was on his staff. Mrs. Soliday also sued for an additional $10,000 as "punitive damages."

Tax Dodger Found Guilty

Another Pearson column scored a victory this week when exrumrunner Jimmy Rutkin, a member of the famed New Jersey Moretti gang, was found guilty by the U. S. District Court of New Jersey of a $250,000 income-tax violation after a nine-day trial.

As far back as March 17 of this year, Mr. Pearson published a resume of Rutkin's activities, revealing his connection with Joe Reinfeld, whose "squeal" on his old partner resulted in Rutkin's indictment in March and his final conviction on Monday, October 23.

(ED. NOTE—Drew Pearson is now making a political survey through various parts of the country. The following column is written from the Far West.)

EN ROUTE IN FAR WEST — Most interesting and vicious election campaign being waged in the West is between Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democrat, and Congressman Richard Nixon, Republican, for the Senate seat vacated by Sen. Sheridan Downey of California.

Mrs. Douglas, if victorious, would be the second woman in American history to gain a seat in the Senate on her own steam rather than through appointment following a husband's death (the other being the able GOP Senator from Maine—Margaret Chase Smith).

However, powerful forces, including the big ranchers, the utilities, and oilmen—have combined to wage one of the most skillful and cutthroat campaigns against her I have ever witnessed. Certain reactionary Democrats have also joined in the hue and cry.

In another famous Senate campaign waged in Illinois between the late Senator J. Ham Lewis and Ruth Hanna McCormick of the Chicago Tribune family, Senator Lewis was always the height of courtesy. Never did he say an unkind word against his opponent. He "killed her with kindness"—and won.

But the California campaign is just the opposite. There is nothing too vicious for the opposition to say against Mrs. Douglas. And the unfairest of all accusations made against her is that she is pro-Communist.

Distort Vote Record

Taking advantage of the current wave of Communist hysteria, the Douglas opposition has prepared a "pink" sheet cleverly distorting some of the Congresswoman's votes into making it appear that she consistently voted with New York's radical Congressman Marcantonio.

This is one of the most skillful pieces of propaganda I have seen in the current election. It ignores the fact that Mrs. Douglas has put across some powerful and constructive legislation—such as the Douglas-McMahon Bill — which created the Atomic Energy Commission, also the Public Housing Bill for the passage of which Mrs. Douglas tirelessly buttonholed reluctant congressmen.

The pink sheet also ignores the fact that the Congresswoman from California led the battle inside the Foreign Affairs Committee for aid to Korea, for military aid to Europe and for Marshall plan aid—none of them exactly calculated to help the Communists.

Furthermore she battled for these measures at a time when her opponent, Congressman Nixon, was voting with Marcantonio against the first aid to Korea bill which lost by only one vote, and with Marcantonio to kill the Korean Aid Bill by recommitting it to committee. He also voted with Marcantonio to cut the 1949 military aid to Western Europe in half—despite our vital battle against communism in that area.

Communism Is Smoke Screen

Few of these things, however, are brought out in the hot and bitter Senatorial campaign where the real backstage issues are the 160-acre limitation on reclamation which the big ranchers oppose and Mrs. Douglas wants to keep; also the distribution of public power which the big utilities want for themselves and Mrs. Douglas wants in government hands.

These and tidelands oil, on which Mrs. Douglas has taken a pro-government stand unpopular with the big oilmen, are the real issues in the California campaign—not communism.

However, lots of money and astute publicity have put these basic issues in the background and raised communism as the smoke screen. It is the same kind of fight waged against fair-minded Republican Sen. Charles Tobey in New Hampshire, against liberal Sen. Elbert Thomas in Utah.

Congressman Nixon has some good points in his favor, among them his persistency in keeping after Alger Hiss, but this brand of unfair politics is not going to help him with the fair-minded American electorate in the long run.

Suspicious Filibuster

Two Western states, California and Arizona, are voting in November on whether to legalize gambling. The gamblers will probably lose.

Meanwhile, the Kefauver Crime Committee has been tipped off that the underworld will send a private lobby to Washington to block the anti-slot machine bill after Congress reconvenes November 27.

This is the bill banning the shipment of slot machines to states which have outlawed them. The underworld didn't take the bill seriously until the Senate and House suddenly passed it. However, Nevada's GOP Sen. George Malone filibustered for 11 hours to hold it up until after the congressional recess —long enough for the underworld to turn on the pressure.

There's something suspicious about Malone's filibuster. He made it in the name of Nevada and states' right, but the truth is, Nevada will probably benefit by the bill. For Nevada is the only state where slot machines are legal and

Political Pressures Are Forcing Truman's Hand

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—Political pressures and the inexorable demands of the defense program have combined to force the hand of the administration. It had been planned to defer until after election the controls that might give concern to the economy. But some of these controls could no longer be postponed.

President Truman found himself pressed by the labor-union bosses who want him to move promptly toward excess-profits-tax legislation. That's one reason why he has been considering a call to bring Congress back here immediately after the election instead of on November 27, as planned.

The labor-union chiefs are eager for some sort of congressional expose of profits for the current year as a means of justifying their demands for higher and higher wage scales. This shows little regard for the inflation spiral so far as higher costs of operation are concerned. Some businesses have been trying to absorb these wage increases without price increases but this cannot be accomplished generally nor can the large businesses do it without dipping into their normal profit levels and curtailing the reserves they usually store up for depression days.

Market Reacted Adversely

The stock market reacted adversely to the news that excess-profits tax legislation was going to be enacted this year. The difficulty is not only that such a law would cut down funds already allocated for planned operations this year but might, if applied retroactively to June 30 or October 1, throw business of the last quarter of the year into confusion.

There are some influential members of Congress who think that a rise in the corporation tax rate, probably to a 50 per cent level, would be better than the complicated excess-profits-tax laws of wartime. But if the labor unions are masters of the White House as well as of the Democratic party after November 7 — as they may well be if they succeed in defeating prominent Republicans for Congress —passage of the excess-profits tax will be assured.

At the very time when there should be restraint on all sides so that the economy can be geared to the absorption of a large defense program, the political pressure of factions and economic groups may do the very thing that the Soviets have been waiting for — make America's internal economic situation critical.

Controls are necessary and controls will be accepted by all groups provided they are applied with an even hand and without regard to politics or special privilege.

Business Affected

Shortages of materials needed for the defense program have begun to affect businesses of various kinds. Credit controls expected to cut down on production of various articles usually bought on the installment plan. Likewise, the new regulations just issued, which prohibit construction of buildings for amusement or recreation purposes, point the way to limitations on other projects which may come to be termed "nonessential."

The new order telling the industrial world that manufacturers of household appliances, radios and use of aluminum, copper, nickel and television sets will have to cut their related products by 30 per cent is the kind of limitation that must inevitably affect employment.

In the face of such rules, can wage levels be allowed to skyrocket? The labor leaders admit something may have to be done to keep their own ranks from demanding higher and higher compensation. It has been intimated that if an excess-profits-tax law is promptly enacted, this would halt wage rises. The truth is it will work just the other day — there will be a tendency to grant the increases if Uncle Sam is to bear the bigger part of the expense through tax deductions. In the end, wage control will become imperative and that's what the whole inflationary trend will ultimately bring unless checked by greater self-restraint than is being exhibited today at the collective bargaining tables.

Americans Deeply Stirred By U. S.-Russia Relations

By MARK SULLIVAN

AS THE campaign to elect a new Congress moves toward its end, newsmen make the customary campaign surveys of the states to get information about issues, about what is in the minds of voters. In their reports is mention of our relations with communist Russia, as conducted by the Truman administration and also the Roosevelt one, and as brought forcibly to public attention by recent events. Reports from states in which Republican candidates have made this issue conspicuous say that the people are deeply stirred by it.

On this broad point, public opinion and emotion have been subjected within a year to successive strain pulling in contradictory directions. In late 1949 and early 1950 the country was moved to deep concern by revelations, through committees of Congress and court trials, that there had been organized infiltration of Communists into branches of the government, including in some cases espionage. Had the coming election been scheduled for that time many voters would probably have regarded the revelations as a reason and opportunity for voting disapproval of the Administration, even though the elections were for members of Congress. This disposition would have been increased by the fact that Mr. Truman had resisted the work of a committee of Congress in bringing about the revelations. He had jeered at the committee's work as a "red herring." After the revelations had become so convincing and sensational, the mood of the people was accurately expressed in the words of Mr. James Rorty in an article in the "New Leader" last April: "Fear and rage are burning at the American grass roots."

Mood Interpreted

How long that public mood might have endured, and how it would have expressed itself in a national election, we cannot know. The mood was interpreted by the Communist aggression in South Korea last June 26th, and our resistance to the aggression. This brought an impulse of unity in support of the Administration and its war effort. Besides, there was approval for the promptness with which the Administration acted when war came, its quickness and success in bringing about action by the United Nations to line up the countries of the non-Communist world in support of our course of stopping the aggression.

Just now our people are subjected to another pull upon their emotions and judgments. Part of our present mood is elation over victory in Korea. And in the coming election this would ordinarily express itself in approval of the Administration, at least in restraint of condemnation of it. There is, however, another condition of which the people are vaguely aware but do not fully understand. We know that important decisions are incubating, some of them within the Administration, more of them in the relations of our government to the United Nations, many of them having to do with war or possible war, all of them certain to influence our future profoundly. The going on of this process could reasonably have an influence on the election, not toward a partisan Congress but toward a strong one. For the outstanding lesson of the conduct of our relations with Russian communism is that decisions of the kind now generating ought not to be made without knowledge in advance by the pepole nor without knowledge and debate in Congress.

Cites Agreement

The example of this lesson is the secret agreement made by President Roosevelt with Stalin at Yalta in February 1945. The purpose of the agreement was participation by Russia in the war against Japan. For this Stalin asked that after Japan should be conquered Russia should be given territory occupied by Japan, formerly a part of China, with other territory adjoining China. The territorial and other advantages thus acquired by Russia became later the leverage by which Russian communism was able to advance into China and ultimately overcome it; and this taking over of China was a tragic disaster to the United States, as a nation and as a spearhead of world resistance to Communism.

About the Yalta agreement and the secrecy of it, much has been written since, most of it condemnatory. Hardly even do partisans of Roosevelt defend it, beyond saying it was made for the purpose of military advantage. It is tenable to suppose that had Congress known about the agreement at the time it was being made, that body would not have approved it, would probably have prevented it.

Herein lies a consideration having to do with the coming election of a new Congress. The consideration does not necessarily call for a partisan Congress. It does call for a Congress which shall know about and have a part in the decisions about international matters now incubating.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Van Vliet Report

THE HORRIBLE outrages committed in Korea are not unusual in Asia. If we are to fight wars against Asiatics, we must expect that they will kill prisoners of war. Asiatic traditions of warfare are different from ours.

This is one of the reasons that Asiatic troops fight with such blind fanaticism. They are convinced that if the enemy ever gets them, he will kill them.

The great novel among the peoples of the Chinese civilization, which includes the Koreans as well as the Annamites of French Indochina, the "San Kuo" ("Three Kingdoms"), deals with warfare and statesmanship. Most of the plays of their classical theater are taken from this novel. No more bloody tale ever was written, and in it the defeated either flee or die.

However, the rights of the prisoner of war are one of the mercies of Western civilization. As cruel as wars have become, we pity the wounded and those who surrender.

Pondering upon the Korean atrocities, I could not help recalling the unbelievable brutality of the wholesale murder of Polish officers at Katyn by Soviet Russia. These men were killed and dumped into a common grave.

Lieutenant Colonel John H. Van Vliet, Jr., who had been a prisoner of the Germans, was taken to Katyn and shown the corpses of these murdered Polish officers. On his liberation in 1945, he wrote a report for the Department of the Army. The report disappeared.

Here is the official notation issued on the subject by the Department of Defense on September 18, 1950:

". . . Inquiries concerning this memorandum, which was classified, were made to the Department starting in the late months of 1949 and continuing through last week. In answering the first queries, the Department of the Army mistakenly indicated that it was in possession of a report which had been based in part on the observations of Lt. Colonel Van Vliet. Such was not the case, this fact being discovered after the original requests had been answered.

"When this error was discovered, a search was instituted for the Van Vliet memorandum, so that consideration could be given to the question of whether it could be declassified and released to inquirers.

"When it became apparent that the memorandum could not be found immediately, the chief of information of the Department of the Army wrote to Lt. Colonel Van Vliet, on April 26, 1950, requesting him to submit a second memorandum on his visit to the Katyn graves. Lt. Colonel Van Vliet submitted a detailed second memorandum on the same subject dated May 11, 1950, which has now been declassified and is being released."

It is impossible not to ask, how does such a report get lost? Who lost it? What kind of a filing system does our government employ if reports get lost? Did some Communist in the Department of Defense steal it?

Even more important, when the Van Vliet report reached the Army, were they shocked by its receipt? Did they wonder why thousands of Polish officers were murdered and thrown into a common grave? Did they appraise this revival of the brutalities of Genghis Khan in terms of modern warfare?

This is Colonel Van Vliet's recollection on May 11, 1950, of what happened to the report:

"On 22 May 1945 Gen. Bissell discussed the case with me alone in his private office in the Pentagon for about 20 minutes. He decided that it was important and directed his civilian female assistant (secretary? stenographer?) to go with me to a closed room across the hall and take dictation. I dictated my report, she typed it up and we added the photographs as inclosures. The General read the finished report, directed that it be marked 'top secret' and filed. He then dictated the letter directing me to silence, and had me sign a copy of it in his presence. He explained the importance of my remaining silent, gave me my copy of the letter and thanked me."

So, Colonel Van Vliet has no copy. But who is the "civilian female assistant?" Does she have no copy? Was only one copy typed?

I raise these questions because this is in line with the Alger Hiss, Judith Coplon, Klaus Fuchs, John Abt, Charles Kramer, Harry Dexter White characteristics of our government. Is this purposeful destruction of American government records in the interest of Soviet Russia?

Planned Murder

Atrocities committed by the North Koreans against helpless American prisoners are enough to make any decent man's blood boil. The death marches and the starvation and shooting of helpless prisoners reveal all the innate viciousness of the regime set up, supported and advised by Soviet Russia.

Other American prisoners remain in enemy custody and may have been transported to Manchuria or Siberia. Shocking as these massacres are, they are no worse than those committed within recent memory by Russia. The Moscow regime was responsible for the Katyn massacre of 10,000 Polish prisoners and has set up an iron curtain behind which it can conceal any unspeakable crime.

The people of Korea were brutalized by 35 years of Japanese rule, to which they responded by underground resistance in which any cruelty seemed patriotic and just vengeance. U. S. intelligence, early in the campaign, had trouble with the vengeful habit of South Koreans who often left them no live prisoners to interrogate.

The South Koreans couldn't see that the wanton destroyers of their homes were entitled to any consideration. This feeling was not hard to understand.

What has been happening in North Korea belongs in another category. It is not spontaneous, undisciplined vengeance, but planned and deliberate murder. Prisoners who were kept alive at first were massacred later, under orders, after the tide of battle turned. The men responsible for that are entitled to no mercy.

Flight From Freedom

Not all of the facts concerning the disappearance of Bruno Pontecorvo, the naturalized British atomic scientist who has not been seen on this side of the iron curtain since September 2, are clear. For example, he may be in Moscow or he may not. But it is certain he has been lost to sight of free men.

The story of Bruno Pontecorvo's journey from Italy, where he had gone for a vacation after resigning from the big British atomic research center at Harwell, is fascinating and frightening. Apparently none of his friends had thought much of it when he started out with his family for Copenhagen—after all, he was to have become professor of experimental physics at Liverpool University in January. And it was not until six weeks after he had left Rome that Italian newspapers reported he had vanished.

It was possible to trace him as far as Helsinki. He and his Swedish wife and his three children had gone from Rome to Copenhagen, from Copenhagen to Stockholm, and then to the Finnish capital. They had not stopped in Stockholm, though Mrs. Pontecorvo's parents live only a 15-minute ride from the airlines office. They had gone to Helsinki without visas, and their passports were taken up. But apparently they had no further use for them. It appears they boarded a Soviet ship bound for Russia.

What Pontecorvo knew about atomic weapons is in dispute. It is not known whether he went to Russia voluntarily or by command. But there is no doubt that if he and his family are alive and in Soviet territory they have turned their backs on freedom forever.

First Things First

As usual, Winston Churchill went straight to the heart of the matter in his speech at the recent annual conference of the British Conservative party. Overcrowding and slums, he declared, breed more illness than all the doctors in the National Health Service can cure.

If his party should be returned to power in the next general election, one of its first concerns would be housing, according to the Conservative leader. Funds for it would be given precedence over those for medical care.

There can be little doubt that under the present government, with its strict food controls, the diet of the lowest segment of the British population has been vastly improved. This has brought correspondingly better health for that group, especially for the children. Another comparable basic requirement for good health is proper shelter under sanitary conditions. Mr. Churchill does well to point out that healthful living conditions are the "ounce of prevention" which "is worth a pound of cure."

Friends At Last

Nations, like individuals, sometimes do forgive their enemies. Greece and Turkey are working on a mutual defense agreement, to be supplemented by like pacts with Italy and other Mediterranean countries. This is surprising, because for many years no country harbored more bitter feeling toward another than that which Greece felt for Turkey. It was born in the centuries of the cruel and inefficient government of the Turkish sultans. To the resentment which an oppressed people naturally feels toward its rulers was added religious hostility between the Christian Greeks and the Moslem Turks.

Finally some 125 years ago Greece succeeded in freeing itself, but hostility still remained. As lately as 1912 the two countries were at war. After World War I a great source of friction was abolished by a wholesale transfer of populations, Greek subjects of Turkey moving to Greece while Turkish subjects of Greece moved to Turkey. Since then the two nations have been drawn together by a realization that in the dangerous world of today no country can afford the luxury of a traditional enmity.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Infectious Mononucleosis

INFECTIOUS mononucleosis is a long and frightening name for a disease that is relatively mild, cures itself, and is about as contagious as a carbuncle. At one time this ailment was known as "glandular fever."

Its most important phases are sore throat, rise in temperature, swelling of the spleen, and enlargement of the glands in the neck, groin and armpit. Not all sufferers have these symtoms and in most instances one is more prominent than the others. Swelling of the glands, for example, may be the only finding, whereas others are bothered principally by fever or sore throat. One of the best ways to remember the condition is to think of it as a cold that lingers longer than it should. The disturbance is more prevalent among children and young adults and now and then descends upon a community in epidemic proportions.

The cause is not known but a virus is the probable culprit. Because a study of the blood is required to make the diagnosis, many cases undoubtedly escape detection. This is particularly true in youngsters who are thought to have a mild respiratory infection. Furthermore, the condition subsides spontaneously and whenever this occurs a battery of blood tests rarely is deemed necessary. Other organs than the lymph glands and spleen may be involved. In many cases the liver is affected, occasionally to such an extent that jaundice develops. Involvement of the nervous system also takes place, leading to symptoms simulating meningitis or polio.

So far, there is no specific cure. Early reports of the value of aureomycin already have been questioned. The initial studies were so encouraging that we were ready to add glandular fever to the list of diseases that were being overcome by the newer antibiotic. The damper was placed on these reports by an article that appeared earlier this year in the Journal of the American Medical association. A series of 47 patients were treated; some received aureomycin; other, a similar appearing capsule in which sugar was substituted for the antibiotic. When the final tabulation was made, the results were approximately the same. In other words, cures attributed to aureomycin probably were spontaneous. Additional studies will be necessary before this question is answered once and for all.

Meanwhile we must resort to the old reliables. Improvement is more rapid if the patient remains quietly in bed, particularly when fever or distress is present. A salt water gargle eases sore throat and a hot water bottle is soothing to enlarged glands that are tender or painful. Liver complications are combated mainly with diet; foods rich in carbohydrates and protein are recommended and fats are taboo. In addition, vitamin B, choline, and liver injections are given. To allay apprehension, all the victim need know is that few if any have failed to recover.

BODY TEMPERATURE

M. T. writes: My temperature is 97 degrees when I get up in the morning. Is this unusual?

REPLY

No. In fact, there may be a variation of as much as three degrees in a 24 hour period. The reading is highest around 4 p. m. and lowest in the wee small hours. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on body temperature.

GRANDMOTHER'S REMEDY

H. J. writes: Does sassafras tea raise or lower the blood pressure or thin or thicken the blood?

REPLY

To my knowledge, the substance has none of these effects. Neither will it cause hair to grow on bald pates or removed warts or bunions.

INFLAMED LIP

J. L. writes: For almost two years I have had trouble with my lips due to a cut on the lower lip. The case has been diagnosed as chilitis exfoliativa and X-ray treatment has not helped. What is the cause of this trouble and is there a cure?

REPLY

In this condition, fissures or cracks appear at the corners of the mouth. The lesions usually are due to seborrheic dermatitis, exposure to wind and sun, or licking the lips frequently. Removal of the cause is essential to cure. On the other hand, when a previous cut is responsible, a more thoro examination will be required.

NOT INHERITED

Mrs. E. writes: Is umbilical hernia hereditary?

REPLY

No. The condition is common in children and merely represents weakness of the muscles surrounding the navel.

Powerful Forces Combined Against Mrs. Douglas In California Campaign For Senator; Sen. Malone May Have Had Eye On Business Benefit To Home State

Says DREW PEARSON

On Tuesday, September 26, Drew Pearson began a series of columns about the sleight-of-hand operations on the part of Congressman Walter Brehm, Ohio Republican, who for three years carried elderly Mrs. Clara Soliday of Ohio on his Congressional payroll, and required her to kick back approximately half her salary.

Subsequent Pearson columns on October 2 and October 9 piled up more evidence on the Ohio Congressman's kickback operation.

Despite Congressman Brehm's vigorous denials of the Pearson charges, the accuracy of the latter's story was substantiated on Tuesday, October 24, when Mrs. Soliday entered suit in Ohio against the Congressman in an attempt to recover $7,340 in back pay, which she claimed he had taken from her during the three-year period she was on his staff. Mrs. Soliday also sued for an additional $10,000 as "punitive damages."

Tax Dodger Found Guilty

Another Pearson column scored a victory this week when ex-rumrunner Jimmy Rutkin, a member of the famed New Jersey Moretti gang, was found guilty by the U. S. District Court of New Jersey of a $250,000 income-tax violation after a nine-day trial.

As far back as March 17 of this year, Mr. Pearson published a resume of Rutkin's activities, revealing his connection with Joe Reinfeld, whose "squeal" on his old partner resulted in Rutkin's indictment in March and his final conviction on Monday, October 23.

(ED. NOTE—Drew Pearson is now making a political survey through various parts of the country. The following column is written from the Far West.)

EN ROUTE IN FAR WEST — Most interesting and vicious election campaign being waged in the West is between Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democrat, and Congressman Richard Nixon, Republican, for the Senate seat vacated by Sen. Sheridan Downey of California.

Mrs. Douglas, if victorious, would be the second woman in American history to gain a seat in the Senate on her own steam rather than through appointment following a husband's death (the other being the able GOP Senator from Maine—Margaret Chase Smith).

However, powerful forces, including the big ranchers, the utilities, and oilmen—have combined to wage one of the most skillful and cut-throat campaigns against her I have ever witnessed. Certain reactionary Democrats have also joined in the hue and cry.

In another famous Senate campaign waged in Illinois between the late Senator J. Ham Lewis and Ruth Hanna McCormick of the Chicago Tribune family, Senator Lewis was always the height of courtesy. Never did he say an unkind word against his opponent. He "killed her with kindness"—and won.

But the California campaign is just the opposite. There is nothing too vicious for the opposition to say against Mrs. Douglas. And the unfairest of all accusations made against her is that she is pro-Communist.

Distort Vote Record

Taking advantage of the current wave of Communist hysteria, the Douglas opposition has prepared a "pink" sheet cleverly distorting some of the Congresswoman's votes into making it appear that she consistently voted with New York's radical Congressman Marcantonio.

This is one of the most skillful pieces of propaganda I have seen in the current election. It ignores the fact that Mrs. Douglas has put across some powerful and constructive legislation—such as the Douglas-McMahon Bill — which created the Atomic Energy Commission, also the Public Housing Bill for the passage of which Mrs. Douglas tirelessly buttonholed reluctant congressmen.

The pink sheet also ignores the fact that the Congresswoman from California led the battle inside the Foreign Affairs Committee for aid to Korea, for military aid to Europe and for Marshall plan aid—none of them exactly calculated to help the Communists.

Furthermore she battled for these measures at a time when her opponent, Congressman Nixon, was voting with Marcantonio against the first aid to Korea bill which lost by only one vote, and with Marcantonio to kill the Korean Aid Bill by recommitting it to committee. He also voted with Marcantonio to cut the 1949 military aid to Western Europe in half—despite our vital battle against communism in that area.

Communism Is Smoke Screen

Few of these things, however, are brought out in the hot and bitter Senatorial campaign where the real backstage issues are the 160-acre limitation on reclamation which the big ranchers oppose and Mrs. Douglas wants to keep; also the distribution of public power which the big utilities want for themselves and Mrs. Douglas wants in government hands.

These and tidelands oil, on which Mrs. Douglas has taken a pro-government stand unpopular with the big oilmen, are the real issues in the California campaign—not communism.

However, lots of money and astute publicity have put these basic issues in the background and raised communism as the smoke screen. It is the same kind of fight waged against fair-minded Republican Sen. Charles Tobey in New Hampshire, against liberal Sen. Elbert Thomas in Utah.

Congressman Nixon has some good points in his favor, among them his persistency in keeping after Alger Hiss, but this brand of unfair politics is not going to help him with the fair-minded American electorate in the long run.

Suspicious Filibuster

Two Western states, California and Arizona, are voting in November on whether to legalize gambling. The gamblers will probably lose.

Meanwhile, the Kefauver Crime Committee has been tipped off that the underworld will send a private lobby to Washington to block the anti-slot machine bill after Congress reconvenes November 27.

This is the bill banning the shipment of slot machines to states which have outlawed them. The underworld didn't take the bill seriously until the Senate and House suddenly passed it. However, Nevada's GOP Sen. George Malone filibustered for 11 hours to hold it up until after the congressional recess —long enough for the underworld to turn on the pressure.

There's something suspicious about Malone's filibuster. He made it in the name of Nevada and states' right, but the truth is, Nevada will probably benefit by the bill. For Nevada is the only state where slot machines are legal and

By MARK SULLIVAN

AS THE campaign to elect a new Congress moves toward its end, newsmen make the customary campaign surveys of the states to get information about issues, about what is in the minds of voters. In their reports is mention of our relations with communist Russia, as conducted by the Truman administration and also the Roosevelt one, and as brought forcibly to public attention by recent events. Reports from states in which Republican candidates have made this issue conspicuous say that the people are deeply stirred by it.

On this broad point, public opinion and emotion have been subjected within a year to successive strain pulling in contradictory directions. In late 1949 and early 1950 the country was moved to deep concern by revelations, through committees of Congress and court trials, that there had been organized infiltration of Communists into branches of the government, including in some cases espionage. Had the coming election been scheduled for that time many voters would probably have regarded the revelations as a reason and opportunity for voting disapproval of the Administration, even though the elections were for members of Congress. This disposition would have been increased by the fact that Mr. Truman had resisted the work of a committee of Congress in bringing about the revelations. He had jeered at the committee's work as a "red herring." After the revelations had become so convincing and sensational, the mood of the people was accurately expressed in the words of Mr. James Rorty in an article in the "New Leader" last April: "Fear and rage are burning at the American grass roots."

Mood Interpreted

How long that public mood might have endured, and how it would have expressed itself in a national election, we cannot know. The mood was interpreted by the Communist aggression in South Korea last June 26th, and our resistance to the aggression. This brought an impulse of unity in support of the Administration and its war effort. Besides, there was approval for the promptness with which the Administration acted when war came, its quick ness and success in bringing about action by the United Nations to line up the countries of the non-Communist world in support of our course of stopping the aggression.

Just now our people are subjected to another pull upon their emotions and judgments. Part of our present mood is elation over victory in Korea. And in the coming election this would ordinarily express itself in approval of the Administration, at least in restraint of condemnation of it. There is, however, another condition of which the people are vaguely aware but do not fully understand. We know that important decisions are incubating, some of them within the Administration, more of them in the relations of our government to the United Nations, many of them having to do with war or possible war, all of them certain to influence our future profoundly. The going on of this process could reasonably have an influence on the election, not toward a partisan Congress but toward a strong one. For the outstanding lesson of the conduct of our relations with Russian communism is that decisions of the kind now generating ought not to be made without knowledge in advance by the pepole nor without knowledge and debate in Congress.

Cites Agreement

The example of this lesson is the secret agreement made by President Roosevelt with Stalin at Yalta in February 1945. The purpose of the agreement was participation by Russia in the war against Japan. For this Stalin asked that after Japan should be conquered Russia should be given territory occupied by Japan, formerly a part of China, with other territory adjoining China. The territorial and other advantages thus acquired by Russia became later the leverage by which Russian communism was able to advance into China and ultimately overcome it; and this taking over of China was a tragic disaster to the United States, as a nation and as a spearhead of world resistance to Communism.

About the Yalta agreement and the secrecy of it, much has been written since, most of it condemnatory. Hardly even do partisans of Roosevelt defend it, beyond saying it was made for the purpose of military advantage. It is tenable to suppose that had Congress known about the agreement at the time it was being made, that body would not have approved it, would probably have prevented it.

Herein lies a consideration having to do with the coming election of a new Congress. The consideration does not necessarily call for a partisan Congress. It does call for a Congress which shall know about and have a part in the decisions about international matters now incubating.

Political Pressures Are Forcing Truman's Hand

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—Political pressures and the inexorable demands of the defense program have combined to force the hand of the administration. It had been planned to defer until after election the controls that might give concern to the economy. But some of these controls could no longer be postponed.

President Truman found himself pressed by the labor-union bosses who want him to move promptly toward excess-profits-tax legislation. That's one reason why he has been considering a call to bring Congress back here immediately after the election instead of on November 27, as planned.

The labor-union chiefs are eager for some sort of congressional expose of profits for the current year as a means of justifying their demands for higher and higher wage scales. This shows little regard for the inflation spiral so far as higher costs of operation are concerned. Some businesses have been trying to absorb these wage increases without price increases but this cannot be accomplished generally nor can the large businesses do it without dipping into their normal profit levels and curtailing the reserves they usually store up for depression days.

Market Reacted Adversely

The stock market reacted adversely to the news that excess-profits tax legislation was going to be enacted this year. The difficulty is not only that such a law would cut down funds already allocated for planned operations this year but might, if applied retroactively to June 30 or October 1, throw business of the last quarter of the year into confusion.

There are some influential members of Congress who think that a rise in the corporation tax rate, probably to a 50 per cent level, would be better than the complicated excess-profits-tax laws of wartime. But if the labor unions are masters of the White House as well as of the Democratic party after November 7 — as they may well be if they succeed in defeating prominent Republicans for Congress —passage of the excess-profits tax will be assured.

At the very time when there should be restraint on all sides so that the economy can be geared to the absorption of a large defense program, the political pressure of factions and economic groups may do the very thing that the Soviets have been waiting for — make America's internal economic situation critical.

Controls are necessary and controls will be accepted by all groups provided they are applied with an even hand and without regard to politics or special privilege.

Business Affected

Shortages of materials needed for the defense program have begun to affect businesses of various kinds. Credit controls expected to cut down on production of various articles usually bought on the installment plan. Likewise, the new regulations just issued, which prohibit construction of buildings for amusement or recreation purposes, point the way to limitations on other projects which may come to be termed "nonessential."

The new order telling the industrial world that manufacturers of household appliances, radios and use of aluminum, copper, nickel and television sets will have to cut their related products by 30 per cent is the kind of limitation that must inevitably affect employment.

In the face of such rules, can wage levels be allowed to skyrocket? The labor leaders admit something may have to be done to keep their own ranks from demanding higher and higher compensation. It has been intimated that if an excess-profits-tax law is promptly enacted, this would halt wage rises. The truth is it will work just the other day — there will be a tendency to grant the increases if Uncle Sam is to bear the bigger part of the expense through tax deductions. In the end, wage control will become imperative and that's what the whole inflationary trend will ultimately bring unless checked by greater self-restraint than is being exhibited today at the collective bargaining tables.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Van Vliet Report

THE HORRIBLE outrages committed in Korea are not unusual in Asia. If we are to fight wars against Asiatics, we must expect that they will kill prisoners of war. Asiatic traditions of warfare are different from ours.

This is one of the reasons that Asiatic troops fight with such blind fanaticism. They are convinced that if the enemy ever gets them, he will kill them.

The great novel among the peoples of the Chinese civilization, which includes the Koreans as well as the Annamites of French Indochina, the "San Kuo" ("Three Kingdoms"), deals with warfare and statesmanship. Most of the plays of their classical theater are taken from this novel. No more bloody tale ever was written, and in it the defeated either flee or die.

However, the rights of the prisoner of war are one of the mercies of Western civilization. As cruel as wars have become, we pity the wounded and those who surrender.

Pondering upon the Korean atrocities, I could not help recalling the unbelievable brutality of the wholesale murder of Polish officers at Katyn by Soviet Russia. These men were killed and dumped into a common grave.

Lieutenant Colonel John H. Van Vliet, Jr., who had been a prisoner of the Germans, was taken to Katyn and shown the corpses of these murdered Polish officers. On his liberation in 1945, he wrote a report for the Department of the Army. The report disappeared.

Here is the official notation issued on the subject by the Department of Defense on September 18, 1950:

In answering the first queries, the Department of the Army mistakenly indicated that it was in possession of a report which had been based in part on the observations of Lt. Colonel Van Vliet. Such was not the case, this fact being discovered after the original requests had been answered.

It is impossible not to ask, how does such a report get lost? Who lost it? What kind of a filing system does our government employ if reports get lost? Did some Communist in the Department of Defense steal it?

Even more important, when the Van Vliet report reached the Army, were they shocked by its receipt? Did they wonder why thousands of Polish officers were murdered and thrown into a common grave? Did they appraise this revival of the brutalities of Genghis Khan in terms of modern warfare?

This is Colonel Van Vliet's recollection on May 11, 1950, of what happened to the report:

"On 22 May 1945 Gen. Bissell discussed the case with me alone in his private office in the Pentagon for about 20 minutes. So, Colonel Van Vliet has no copy. But who is the "civilian female assistant?" Does she have no copy? Was only one copy typed?

I raise these questions because this is in line with the Alger Hiss, Judith Coplon, Klaus Fuchs, John Abt, Charles Kramer, Harry Dexter White characteristics of our government. Is this purposeful destruction of American government records in the interest of Soviet Russia?

Corriganville School Condition Is Discussed

Community Delegation Protests Lack Of Water

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday heard protests from a group representing the Parent-Teacher Association and Volunteer Fire Company at Corriganville of the unsanitary and other adverse conditions at the community's school.

Harry Walters, the principal spokesman for the group, said that the school children have to use outside toilets, there is not an adequate water supply, two women who operate the school's hot lunch program have to carry water from upstairs to the basement and then outside to dispose of it after use.

Walters said he knows that money has been appropriated in years gone by for improvements at the school, but that nothing has ever been done.

Commissioner James Holmes said he remembered a $7,500 allotment which was made a year or so before World War II for improvements, but Walters said nothing was done at that time or since by the School Board.

Both Commissioner Holmes and Commissioner William H. Lemmert said they would contact Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, and members of the School Board for a meeting next Friday to discuss the matter and ascertain what can be done.

Walters and Mrs. Walter J. Shaffer, president of the Corriganville School Parent-Teacher Association, said they have been patient, but during the last 12 years sanitary conditions have not been improved.

The group said they want to obtain a good supply of water, necessary drainage from the sinks in the school kitchen and inside toilets.

A road outside the school is also in bad shape, and the board instructed County Engineer John J. Smith to repair it as soon as possible.

Service Station Appeal Tabled

The Board of Zoning Appeals this week tabled for further consideration the appeal of Charles D. Callis, Route 2, Williams Road, for a permit to locate a service station on Lots 13 and 14, Block 17, Louisiana Avenue at the corner of Hill Top Drive.

The section had been recommended for change from residential to business zoning classification but the Mayor and Council omitted it from a list of recent amendments to the zoning ordinance.

Thomas B. Finan, representing Callis, has asked the Mayor and Council to reconsider its action.

Several residents of the area appeared at the hearing to oppose the application and presented a petition with 34 signatures.

The spokesmen, Mrs. Martha Riley and Mrs. Edythe McMakin, said the area is still in a residential classification.

Finan presented arguments on behalf of Callis.

the bill won't stop the shipment of slot machines to Nevada. It will merely shut off the supply to other states, which should bring more business to Nevada.

The bill also bolsters states rights by helping to keep slot machines out of the states which have laws against them. The bill will not interfere with any state wishing to legalize machines.

These facts were reported to Malone by his research assistant, Carlos Toro, who recommended in favor of the bill. Yet Malone ignored his researcher and tried to talk Colorado's "Big Ed" Johnson, into delaying the bill. Johnson was chairman of the senate committee which wrote it.

However, when Johnson refused, Malone snorted: "OK, brother, it's a long road."

Later Malone delivered his 11-hour filibuster, and served notice he would filibuster again if the anti-slot machine bill came up after Thanksgiving.

But the strange thing is, Malone didn't say a word against the bill throughout the lengthy hearings, these made front-page news and would not have been overlooked by him. Yet, not until different versions of the bill had already passed both the Senate and House, and the underworld suddenly got frantic, did Malone come out against it, holding up the Senate-House conference on the bill's final form.

NOTE—The underworld's cut in the slot-machine racket runs into billions of dollars. It also gets in on the distribution end, which would be hit the hardest by the anti-slot machine bill.

NOTE—Walter Young, lobbyist for O. D. Jennings and Company, largest slot-machine manufacturer, has paid several calls at Malone's office. The O. D. Jennings Company, incidentally, is located in Illinois, not Nevada, but they figured Senator Malone could do business for them best.

Corriganville School Condition Is Discussed

Community Delegation Protests Lack Of Water

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday heard protests from a group representing the Parent-Teacher Association and Volunteer Fire Company at Corriganville of the unsanitary and other adverse conditions at the community's school.

Harry Walters, the principal spokesman for the group, said that the school children have to use outside toilets, there is not an adequate water supply, two women who operate the school's hot lunch program have to carry water from upstairs to the basement and then outside to dispose of it after use.

Walters said he knows that money has been appropriated in years gone by for improvements at the school, but that nothing has ever been done.

Commissioner James Holmes said he remembered a $7,500 allotment which was made a year or so before World War II for improvements, but Walters said nothing was done at that time or since by the School Board.

Both Commissioner Holmes and Commissioner William H. Lemmert said they would contact Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, and members of the School Board for a meeting next Friday to discuss the matter and ascertain what can be done.

Walters and Mrs. Walter J. Shaffer, president of the Corriganville School Parent-Teacher Association, said they have been patient, but during the last 12 years sanitary conditions have not been improved.

The group said they want to obtain a good supply of water, necessary drainage from the sinks in the school kitchen and inside toilets.

A road outside the school is also in bad shape, and the board instructed County Engineer John J. Smith to repair it as soon as possible.

Service Station Appeal Tabled

The Board of Zoning Appeals this week tabled for further consideration the appeal of Charles D. Callis, Route 2, Williams Road, for a permit to locate a service station on Lots 13 and 14, Block 17, Louisiana Avenue at the corner of Hill Top Drive.

The section had been recommended for change from residential to business zoning classification but the Mayor and Council omitted it from a list of recent amendments to the zoning ordinance.

Thomas B. Finan, representing Callis, has asked the Mayor and Council to reconsider its action.

Several residents of the area appeared at the hearing to oppose the application and presented a petition with 34 signatures.

The spokesmen, Mrs. Martha Riley and Mrs. Edythe McMakin, said the area is still in a residential classification.

Finan presented arguments on behalf of Callis.

the bill won't stop the shipment of slot machines to Nevada. It will merely shut off the supply to other states, which should bring more business to Nevada.

The bill also bolsters states rights by helping to keep slot machines out of the states which have laws against them. The bill will not interfere with any state wishing to legalize machines.

These facts were reported to Malone by his research assistant, Carlos Toro, who recommended in favor of the bill. Yet Malone ignored his researcher and tried to talk Colorado's "Big Ed" Johnson, into delaying the bill. Johnson was chairman of the senate committee which wrote it.

Home Group Hears Dutch Lore Talk

No one knows how the hex signs painted on barns and found scattered throughout all Pennsylvania Dutch art originated, Mrs. C. Hollis Hull, Mt. Lebanon, Pa., told members of the American Home Group of the Woman's Civic Club at the meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Thomas LeClear, Braddock Road.

A fourth generation Pennsylvania Dutch descendant, who on three sides of the family can go back to seven generations of Pennsylvania Dutch, Mrs. Hull explained her research leads to the theory that the signs were just used because the people liked them and thought they were pretty.

The speaker displayed a large poster of the hex designs, and told of the various sorts of superstitions regarding them, which she said some think are a curse and others a blessing.

A small replica bedroom, with authentic miniature furniture including an old fashioned wash stand, with tiny pitcher and bowl, bundling bed and old fashioned rocker, was exhibited. Mrs. Hull talked about the different pieces in the room as well as the Pennsylvania Dutch designs on them.

Mrs. Hull also displayed a miniature chest and replicas of china of authentic Pennsylvania Dutch patterns. She also showed a wedding plate inscribed with the name of the bride and bridegroom together with the wedding date, which also is a Pennsylvania Dutch idea; and some antique Delph china and Stiegal glass, telling the story of the Baron Stiegal.

Mrs. Alvin B. Storey, chairman, introduced the speaker and during the question period following the program, Mrs. Storey with her committee served cookies made with old Pennsylvania Dutch recipies.

Seventy members attended.

Mrs. Mildred Stickley, 227 South Mechanic Street, is improving at her home after being a patient in Allegany Hospital.

Home Group Hears Dutch Lore Talk

No one knows how the hex signs painted on barns and found scattered throughout all Pennsylvania Dutch art originated, Mrs. C. Hollis Hull, Mt. Lebanon, Pa., told members of the American Home Group of the Woman's Civic Club at the meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Thomas LeClear, Braddock Road.

A fourth generation Pennsylvania Dutch descendant, who on three sides of the family can go back to seven generations of Pennsylvania Dutch, Mrs. Hull explained her research leads to the theory that the signs were just used because the people liked them and thought they were pretty.

The speaker displayed a large poster of the hex designs, and told of the various sorts of superstitions regarding them, which she said some think are a curse and others a blessing.

A small replica bedroom, with authentic miniature furniture including an old fashioned wash stand, with tiny pitcher and bowl, bundling bed and old fashioned rocker, was exhibited. Mrs. Hull talked about the different pieces in the room as well as the Pennsylvania Dutch designs on them.

Mrs. Hull also displayed a miniature chest and replicas of china of authentic Pennsylvania Dutch patterns. She also showed a wedding plate inscribed with the name of the bride and bridegroom together with the wedding date, which also is a Pennsylvania Dutch idea; and some antique Delph china and Stiegal glass, telling the story of the Baron Stiegal.

Mrs. Alvin B. Storey, chairman, introduced the speaker and during the question period following the program, Mrs. Storey with her committee served cookies made with old Pennsylvania Dutch recipies.

VA Announces Changes In Vet School Program

Veterans planning to change to new fields of study under the GI Bill or to apply for courses commonly considered avocational or recreational may be affected by new Veterans Administration regulations, the administration has announced.

The regulations are based on Public Law 610, enacted July 13, and, according to them, a veteran who wants to change his course or take an additional course must submit an application to the Veterans Administration office handling his records. If the office determines he has not previously changed general fields, it will approve his application, even though it is in a different general field.

If the veteran desires to make a second change of general fields of study, he will be asked to undergo advisement and guidance. But if he is not notified of the VA's decision within 45 calendar days from the date his application is received, his request for the second change of general fields will be automatically approved, the VA has said.

VA Announces Changes In Vet School Program

Veterans planning to change to new fields of study under the GI Bill or to apply for courses commonly considered avocational or recreational may be affected by new Veterans Administration regulations, the administration has announced.

The regulations are based on Public Law 610, enacted July 13, and, according to them, a veteran who wants to change his course or take an additional course must submit an application to the Veterans Administration office handling his records. If the office determines he has not previously changed general fields, it will approve his application, even though it is in a different general field.

If the veteran desires to make a second change of general fields of study, he will be asked to undergo advisement and guidance. But if he is not notified of the VA's decision within 45 calendar days from the date his application is received, his request for the second change of general fields will be automatically approved, the VA has said.

Sailing Of U. S. Ship For Red China Held Up

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27 (AP) — The U. S. Customs Service held up a shipment of petroleum jelly for Red China today pending an analysis by customs service chemist.

Michael J. Bradley, collector of the port, said that "if the chemical tests develops any doubt concerning the character of petrolatum these doubts will be resolved in favor of rigid enforcement and the cargo will not be loaded."

The shipment was scheduled to sail aboard the freighter, Flying Cloud. Action came as an aftermath of a charge in Washington by Sen. O'Conor (D-Md), that a ship destined for Communist China now is loading a large quantity of petroleum products, scrapped automobile tires and galvanized pipe.

O'Conor, chairman of a Senate Commerce subcommittee investigating shipment of oil and other strategic material to the Chinese Reds, did not identify the ship. He did say that over 3,300,000 gallons of lubricating oil and 700,000 pounds of grease were sent from the U. S. to China in the 12 months ended last June 30.

25 Heroes Win Carnegie Medals

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission today awarded bronze medals to 25 heroes in 15 states.

Nine of the heroes lost their lives performing the acts which won the commission recognition. Three others were injured.

The commission granted pensions totalling $3,480 in five cases. Death benefits of $800 were given in three other cases. Three heroes were granted disablement benefits totaling $555.

Awards totalling $6,000 were made in 16 cases for educational or other purposes.

Among the acts of heroism cited:

June Sickler, 15-year-old school girl of Riverside, N. J., died while rescuing an 18-year-old negro youth from drowning in Rancocas creek at Bridgeboro, N. J., August 11, 1949. The youth was saved.

Mary C. Yowell, Fort Smith, Ark., 66 years old and sightless, attempted to save an elderly woman who fell across the lighted burners of a gas stove, setting her clothes afire. Miss Yowell carried her, clothing blazing, from the home. The woman died of burns. Miss Yowell suffered slight burns.

Hull Wright, 56, tender at a dam near Pittsburgh, received a bronze medal posthumously and a similar award went to James Woffenden, 50, Pittsburgh. The two men rowed a small skiff into a whirlpool, trying to rescue several persons trapped in their cabin cruiser when it plunged over Wright's dam last July 11. Wright was swept overboard and drowned.

Edwards' Hearing Is Set For Nov. 18

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Baltimore Supreme Bench has set Nov. 18 for a hearing on the plea for a third trial for Thomas A. Edwards in the sensational Mahlan-Kline murders.

The Anne Arundel county negro twice has been convicted and once was sentenced to hang.

The Maryland Court of Appeals blocked this by finding that he had previously been improperly induced to make a confession. Two Baltimore circuit court judges convicted him again at the second trial last June.

Edwards is accused of slaying John H. Mahlan and Mary Kline, Glen Burnie couple.

Communism Major Failure In N. Korea, Americans Told

TOKYO, Oct. 27 (AP)—A group of North Koreans told American intelligence officers today that Communism was a major failure in North Korea—and that its failure was clearly apparent before the start of the war.

The men were picked up in a small boat, headed south, by a United Nations naval patrol. There were eight men in the craft. A headquarters spokesman said intelligence does not assume their opinions are necessarily typical of the whole populace of North Korea.

The men said the Communist system had a good beginning and that the majority of North Koreans, especially farmers, thought it would bring incredible prosperity to the country.

Land reform was popular both in principle and, at least at the start, in practice.

Then, they said, certain disquieting signs appeared.

The people were surprised and shocked at the attitude of the Communist officials toward old people. In all Oriental countries age is venerated.

Custom demands that life be made as easy as possible for the aged.

In North Korea the aged were forced to work.

The Koreans said their Red masters explained that was the custom in the Soviet Union. "In Russia," the bosses said, "if a man or woman doesn't work, he doesn't eat."

There was some resentment over this and the police had to use strong measures to enforce it.

Eventually, the Koreans said, their own police were far more cruel than the Japanese police during the long years of the Japanese occupation.

While this was taking place and the people began to be acutely hungry, the Koreans said they were astonished and angered to hear that rice was being shipped to the Soviet Union.

"Law Bending" To Aid Marshal Tito Charged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Sen. Brewster (R-Me) accused the administration tonight of "bending the law" in approving a $2,000,000 Export-Import Bank loan to Yugoslavia for the purchase of food.

Secretary of State Acheson announced earlier this week that Marshal Tito's Communist, but anti-Soviet, government has been authorized to use $2,000,000 of a previously approved $15,000,000 loan to buy food because of a drought in Yugoslavia. The original loan was for the purchase of machinery.

"Bending the law to aid Tito through a forced construction of the Export-Import Bank appropriation is a very dubious procedure," said Brewster, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Church Will Mark All Saints Day

WESTERNPORT — St. James Episcopal Church will observe All Saints Day Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 10 a. m. with a celebration of the Holy Communion.

The names of the departed members of the Parish will be read at that service. The Altar Guild will take communion in a body.

Far West Braces For New Storm

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 27 (AP) — Storm-tossed debris littered a thousand far west towns today as gale-force winds whipped inland and a fresh storm gathered in the Pacific.

At least two persons were killed by the blow that battered the coast from Southern California to Canada. Another death may have been caused by it.

Scores were injured and property damage estimates soared.

The new storm, due on the coast tonight, will be less violent, the Weather Bureau forecast said.

Hundreds of trees crashed almost everywhere in the far west. Telephone lines were down. Power failed for periods up to many hours. Windows shattered and roofs flew from the small buildings as the wind raked over a thousand-mile front at speeds up to 72 miles an hour.

A spectacular fire bolt raced through a lumber mill at Cottage Grove, Ore., last night where rain or a power surge blew out a transformer. The mill went up in flames and the owner said loss was $600,000 to $700,000.

A railroad roundhouse roof fell in on workers, injuring eight on the San Francisco peninsula.

Erection Of Hospitals In Suburbs Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—As a precaution against atomic attack, the nation's state health officers today recommended that so far as possible any new hospitals built in likely target areas be erected in the suburbs rather than in the central part of town.

The Association of State and Territorial Health Officers recommended that state hospital construction authorities, in making allocations for new buildings, "take into consideration the implications of the dangers of atomic attack in primary target areas."

The group recommended that in so far as possible the construction authorities "make allocations in such a way that hospital facilities will be decentralized."

Nation Answers Mother's Appeal

AZUSA, Calif., Oct. 27 (AP) — A nation responded to a mother's appeal for prayers for her dying child and today three-year-old Linda Wright had her best night's sleep since she was stricken four months ago with dreaded leukemia.

Mrs. Harriet Wright, 29, has been told by doctors that her child has only days to live because of the illness, cancer of the bloodstream.

On Wednesday, admitting that she never had been especially religious herself, the 29-year-old mother appealed to readers of the Pasadena Star-News for prayers for the blonde, blue-eyed child.

"Each time there has been a special prayer said for Linda in one of the churches, she seems to respond and be better," the mother wrote the newspaper.

The appeal was relayed nationally by the Associated Press.

Today, Mrs. Wright said she has received "hundreds of telephone calls, telegrams and letters from individuals and churches all over the country."

She said churches—Catholic, Jew and Protestant—had offered special prayers for the child.

Sailing Of U. S. Ship For Red China Held Up

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27 (AP) — The U. S. Customs Service held up a shipment of petroleum jelly for Red China today pending an analysis by customs service chemist.

Michael J. Bradley, collector of the port, said that "if the chemical tests develops any doubt concerning the character of petrolatum these doubts will be resolved in favor of rigid enforcement and the cargo will not be loaded."

The shipment was scheduled to sail aboard the freighter, Flying Cloud. Action came as an aftermath of a charge in Washington by Sen. O'Conor (D-Md), that a ship destined for Communist China now is loading a large quantity of petroleum products, scrapped automobile tires and galvanized pipe.

O'Conor, chairman of a Senate Commerce subcommittee investigating shipment of oil and other strategic material to the Chinese Reds, did not identify the ship. He did say that over 3,300,000 gallons of lubricating oil and 700,000 pounds of grease were sent from the U. S. to China in the 12 months ended last June 30.

25 Heroes Win Carnegie Medals

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission today awarded bronze medals to 25 heroes in 15 states.

Nine of the heroes lost their lives performing the acts which won the commission recognition. Three others were injured.

The commission granted pensions totalling $3,480 in five cases. Death benefits of $800 were given in three other cases. Three heroes were granted disablement benefits totaling $555.

Awards totalling $6,000 were made in 16 cases for educational or other purposes.

Among the acts of heroism cited:

June Sickler, 15-year-old school girl of Riverside, N. J., died while rescuing an 18-year-old negro youth from drowning in Rancocas creek at Bridgeboro, N. J., August 11, 1949. The youth was saved.

Mary C. Yowell, Fort Smith, Ark., 66 years old and sightless, attempted to save an elderly woman who fell across the lighted burners of a gas stove, setting her clothes afire. Miss Yowell carried her, clothing blazing, from the home. The woman died of burns. Miss Yowell suffered slight burns.

Hull Wright, 56, tender at a dam near Pittsburgh, received a bronze medal posthumously and a similar award went to James Woffenden, 50, Pittsburgh. The two men rowed a small skiff into a whirlpool, trying to rescue several persons trapped in their cabin cruiser when it plunged over Wright's dam last July 11. Wright was swept overboard and drowned.

Edwards' Hearing Is Set For Nov. 18

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Baltimore Supreme Bench has set Nov. 18 for a hearing on the plea for a third trial for Thomas A. Edwards in the sensational Mahlan-Kline murders.

The Anne Arundel county negro twice has been convicted and once was sentenced to hang.

The Maryland Court of Appeals blocked this by finding that he had previously been improperly induced to make a confession. Two Baltimore circuit court judges convicted him again at the second trial last June.

Edwards is accused of slaying John H. Mahlan and Mary Kline, Glen Burnie couple.

CANCER AMPUTEE CHOSEN "QUEEN"—Betty Thompson lost her right leg last year because of cancer but it didn't affect the pretty 17-year-old girl's popularity with classmates at Russel high school at East Point, Ga. She received 38,502 votes from boys and girls who paid a penny each for the privilege of making her queen of the school carnival. Her running mate, "King" Joe Durrett, 16, places the crown on her head.

Communism Major Failure In N. Korea, Americans Told

TOKYO, Oct. 27 (AP)—A group of North Koreans told American intelligence officers today that Communism was a major failure in North Korea—and that its failure was clearly apparent before the start of the war.

The men were picked up in a small boat, headed south, by a United Nations naval patrol. There were eight men in the craft. A headquarters spokesman said intelligence does not assume their opinions are necessarily typical of the whole populace of North Korea.

The men said the Communist system had a good beginning and that the majority of North Koreans, especially farmers, thought it would bring incredible prosperity to the country.

Land reform was popular both in principle and, at least at the start, in practice.

Then, they said, certain disquieting signs appeared.

The people were surprised and shocked at the attitude of the Communist officials toward old people. In all Oriental countries age is venerated.

Custom demands that life be made as easy as possible for the aged.

In North Korea the aged were forced to work.

The Koreans said their Red masters explained that was the custom in the Soviet Union. "In Russia," the bosses said, "if a man or woman doesn't work, he doesn't eat."

There was some resentment over this and the police had to use strong measures to enforce it.

Eventually, the Koreans said, their own police were far more cruel than the Japanese police during the long years of the Japanese occupation.

While this was taking place and the people began to be acutely hungry, the Koreans said they were astonished and angered to hear that rice was being shipped to the Soviet Union.

"Law Bending" To Aid Marshal Tito Charged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Sen. Brewster (R-Me) accused the administration tonight of "bending the law" in approving a $2,000,000 Export-Import Bank loan to Yugoslavia for the purchase of food.

Secretary of State Acheson announced earlier this week that Marshal Tito's Communist, but anti-Soviet, government has been authorized to use $2,000,000 of a previously approved $15,000,000 loan to buy food because of a drought in Yugoslavia. The original loan was for the purchase of machinery.

"Bending the law to aid Tito through a forced construction of the Export-Import Bank appropriation is a very dubious procedure," said Brewster, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Far West Braces For New Storm

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 27 (AP) — Storm-tossed debris littered a thousand far west towns today as gale-force winds whipped inland and a fresh storm gathered in the Pacific.

At least two persons were killed by the blow that battered the coast from Southern California to Canada. Another death may have been caused by it.

Scores were injured and property damage estimates soared.

The new storm, due on the coast tonight, will be less violent, the Weather Bureau forecast said.

Hundreds of trees crashed almost everywhere in the far west. Telephone lines were down. Power failed for periods up to many hours. Windows shattered and roofs flew from the small buildings as the wind raked over a thousand-mile front at speeds up to 72 miles an hour.

A spectacular fire bolt raced through a lumber mill at Cottage Grove, Ore., last night where rain or a power surge blew out a transformer. The mill went up in flames and the owner said loss was $600,000 to $700,000.

A railroad roundhouse roof fell in on workers, injuring eight on the San Francisco peninsula.

Erection Of Hospitals In Suburbs Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—As a precaution against atomic attack, the nation's state health officers today recommended that so far as possible any new hospitals built in likely target areas be erected in the suburbs rather than in the central part of town.

The Association of State and Territorial Health Officers recommended that state hospital construction authorities, in making allocations for new buildings, "take into consideration the implications of the dangers of atomic attack in primary target areas."

The group recommended that in so far as possible the construction authorities "make allocations in such a way that hospital facilities will be decentralized."

Nation Answers Mother's Appeal

AZUSA, Calif., Oct. 27 (AP) — A nation responded to a mother's appeal for prayers for her dying child and today three-year-old Linda Wright had her best night's sleep since she was stricken four months ago with dreaded leukemia.

Mrs. Harriet Wright, 29, has been told by doctors that her child has only days to live because of the illness, cancer of the bloodstream.

On Wednesday, admitting that she never had been especially religious herself, the 29-year-old mother appealed to readers of the Pasadena Star-News for prayers for the blonde, blue-eyed child.

"Each time there has been a special prayer said for Linda in one of the churches, she seems to respond and be better," the mother wrote the newspaper.

The appeal was relayed nationally by the Associated Press.

Today, Mrs. Wright said she has received "hundreds of telephone calls, telegrams and letters from individuals and churches all over the country."

She said churches—Catholic, Jew and Protestant—had offered special prayers for the child.

CORWIN CLARK
alias "CORWEE"

Blond hair, blue eyes. Four years old. Height 3 ft. 7 inches; weight 58 lbs.

Last seen loafing on his doorstep Sunday morning.

THIS BOY IS DANGEROUS

He is intelligent, clever, friendly—a natural leader. But his parents have repeatedly neglected the opportunities provided by local churches for his religious and moral training.

The aid of all Christian citizens is required to locate this boy and hundreds like him. The character-building influence of the Church can make them outstanding men. Your active support of the local churches in their efforts to train such youngsters will have ample REWARD in the contribution these youths will one day make to the life of our Community.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CORWIN CLARK
alias "CORWEE"

Blond hair, blue eyes. Four years old. Height 3 ft. 7 inches; weight 58 lbs.

Last seen loafing on his doorstep Sunday morning.

THIS BOY IS DANGEROUS

He is intelligent, clever, friendly—a natural leader. But his parents have repeatedly neglected the opportunities provided by local churches for his religious and moral training.

The aid of all Christian citizens is required to locate this boy and hundreds like him. The character-building influence of the Church can make them outstanding men. Your active support of the local churches in their efforts to train such youngsters will have ample REWARD in the contribution these youths will one day make to the life of our Community.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Head Of LaVale Water Setup Resigns Post

City Water Is To Be Turned On Monday

Because of the pressure of his own business as president of the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company, William A. Douglas, chairman of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, submitted his resignation yesterday in a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Douglas stated that the main phase of the project has been accomplished, and that with the second phase of the program about to get underway he felt someone else should be given the opportunity to serve.

Water will be turned into the LaVale section on Monday morning.

Sanders Gets Post

Douglas also announced that the commission has employed Carl A. Sanders as secretary-treasurer of the group. The commission hopes to obtain office space in the LaVale Fire Hall for the use of Sanders.

Douglas said that with the completion of the sterilization of the new water line from Cumberland to the lower section of LaVale this weekend the city water system will be cut into the LaVale system Monday.

Residents who receive the new supply have been instructed to let their faucets run for about 30 minutes Monday morning. There will be a short delay until the full pressure is available but in an hour or so the system will be working completely, Douglas said.

The old water supply of the LaVale Water Company, which was purchased by the LaVale Sanitary Commission, has been capped and cutoff from the new city water supply.

Lost Deer Hunter Returns

PARSONS, W. Va.—James Blackshire, 33, Charleston, W. Va., a deer hunter lost in a remote, isolated section of Canaan Valley about 15 miles from here, came out of the woods yesterday after spending the night huddled beside a fire he built after losing his way.

A sheriff's posse of approximately 200 men had spent the night searching for him.

Sheriff D. E. Crosten, who organized the search party, said Blackshire brought in a doe, one of 250 reported at two of the six checking stations during the special three-day season on antlerless deer.

Blackshire was none the worse for his experience, Sheriff Crosten said. The Charleston man, when he found he was lost, stopped, built a fire and remained there for the night. When daylight came he found his way back.

Blackshire returned about 10 a. m. The posse hunted until 3 a. m., and was getting ready to set out again when the lost hunter appeared. A bloodhound had been obtained from the Conservation Commission to aid in the search.

Blackshire had been hunting on the Cooper Farm which comprises several thousand acres.

Flanagan's Bullet Wound "Accidental"

After being questioned in Allegany Hospital by County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, James C. Flanagan, 223 Avirett Avenue, yesterday admitted that the gun wound he sustained in the chest early Thursday morning was self-inflicted.

The World War II veteran said the shooting was accidental.

Flanagan told Boyle he and Robert Stockman, about 42, of 137 North Mechanic Street, had been drinking heavily and said the shooting occurred at his (Flanagan's) home.

The shooting victim said he purchased the .22 rifle (with which he was shot) several days ago at a local hardware store. Asked for what purpose he bought the gun, Flanagan answered, "To shoot targets."

Flanagan said he had met Stockman "over town" early Wednesday evening. They visited several drinking places, he asserted, and about midnight went to Flanagan's residence where "we drank some more."

Flanagan said no one was home at the time and "after we had several drinks I got out the gun." He admitted using a pack of cigarets as a target on the floor, and said when Stockman went upstairs he placed the rifle in the corner thinking it had been emptied.

However, the gun went off and the charge hit him in the chest from close range. Allegany Hospital attaches yesterday reported his condition as "good."

At first, Flanagan blamed Stockman for the shooting. The latter was released from the City Jail following Flanagan's confession.

Italy Apparently Shifts Marbles To Bolster Army

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME—(AP)—Italy has increased her army from eight and a half divisions to 12 divisions in the last year with American arms aid under the spur of Red aggression.

That sounds on paper like 50,000 more trained fighting men. But whether it is or not is a neat problem in definitions, involving the peace treaty that Italy signed after the war.

That treaty limits Italy's army to 250,000 men—including the army-trained, army-equipped force of carabinieri police.

A year ago, when Italy had eight divisions and two part-strength brigades, her army already was up to that limit, with just over 173,000 in the army and 76,000 carabinieri.

Now Prime Minister Alcide De Gasperi has announced Italy has strengthened the Alpine and armored brigades to division force, making ten divisions, and added two more infantry, making 12 in all.

Just how that was done without spilling over the 250,000 limit was not explained. Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi declined to answer any questions on that subject.

But American military observers here are inclined to accept that it was done—three and a half divisions added without increasing the number of men in the army. They won't say how, either.

The best available information is that it was a case of taking marbles out of one pocket and putting them in another.

Presumably the number of actual combat soldiers was increased by eliminating from the army rolls an equal number of thousands of auxilitary personnel whose work could be done by civilian employes.

That would include the tens of thousands of clerks, maintenance crews, transport workers and the like who normally would be army personnel, but who could be let out of the army and replaced by hiring civilian workers to do the same jobs out of uniform.

For internal defense Italy has consdierably increased her police forces, too, and they are getting more military and arms training. There is no violation in that; the peace treaty applies only to the carabinieri.

The strengthening of the whole defense structure has been made possible in large part by American arms aid now flowing steadily into Italian arsenals.

But it comes in large part, too, from Italy's own efforts and expenditures.

Italy's defense budget has been increased by 50,000,000,000 lire ($83,000,000) in the last few months, and the government has been asked for another 50,000,000,000 lire.

The first 50 billion puts Italy's total defense budget up to 373,000,000,000 lire ($621,000,000)—over a billion lire a day.

The Italian army estimates a soldier costs 1,000 lire a day—$1.60. So, obviously, the billion a day covers a lot of expenditures besides armed men.

But it comes in large part, too, from Italy's own efforts and expenditures .

Italy's defense budget has been increased by 50,000,000,000 lire ($83,000,000) in the last few months, and the government has been asked for another 50,000,000,000 lire.

The first 50 billion puts Italy's total defense budget up to 373,000,000,000 lire ($621,000,000)—over a billion lire a day.

The Italian army estimates a soldier costs 1,000 lire a day—$1.60. So, obviously, the billion a day covers a lot of expenditures besides armed men.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Ronie Sisk, hard-running Allegany High quarterback, was both the goat and hero in the Campers' thrilling 19-13 victory over an inspired Martinsburg (W. Va.) High Bulldogs eleven last night at Fort Hill stadium before a slim crowd of 1,800.

The six-foot Alco signal-caller fumbled on several occasions, twice punted very poorly for distances of less than five yards and set up both of Martinsburg's scores, but redeemed himself long enough to make a scintillating 50-yard run in the third quarter for the Campers' winning touchdown.

Wild Third Period

A wild and wooly third stanza kept the small Friday night turnout on its feet almost continuously as Martinsburg's Bulldogs rallied to come from behind to tie the score with two quick six-pointers after trailing 13-0 at halftime only to see Sisk break the game open with his sparkling run.

Bulldogs Are Inspired

It was an inspired, fighting team of West Virginians that took the field in the second half two touchdowns behind the charges of Coach Bob Pence.

But after forcing Allegany to punt early in the stanza Coach John Coburn's eleven took over with a vengeance. Jack Potts scampered 17 yards to the Alco 34 and Quarterback Mel Hamilton took the ball thru center for 20 more to the AHS 14. Two cracks at the line gained four yards and then Fullback John Alger smashed thru right guard for the score. Potts' pass to end Glenn Everhart made it 13-7 AHS.

On the first scrimmage play after the ensuing kickoff Sisk fumbled on his own 18 and Chuck Eirich, Camper halfback, recovered on the Alco five. Back in his end zone to punt Sisk booted a very high, poor punt that went out of bounds on the AHS 3, an actual loss of two yards on the play. Martinsburg took over and Alger scored again on a line buck to knot the count. Sisk partly redeemed himself by knocking down the pass for the extra point.

Sisk Scores For AHS

After Bulldogs kicked off again Allegany took the ball on its 38. A 15-yard penalty for roughness against Martinsburg put the ball on the midfield stripe moments later and set the stage for Sisk to score on his half-century gallop. The quarterback took the pigskin around right end, faked a pitchout to Eirich, cut back and outran the Martinsburg secondary for the tie breaking and winning touchdown.

Another fumble and a second bad punt by Sisk almost cost Allegany the game then in the final quarter. With the Campers threatening on the Martinsburg 34 with third down and 12 Ronnie fumbled a pitchout attempt and Bernard Spencer recovered for the Pencemen for a 13-yard loss. Then the luckless Camper quarter attempted to punt and got off a 4-yarder to the Martinsburg 43.

Here Martinsburg gambled everything in a last ditch drive for the winning score with time fast running out. A 15-yard penalty against Allegany put the ball on the Alco 39 and Alger and Potts combined to carry to the AHS 23. Two cracks at the line put the ball on the Alco 20, but two passes were batted down by the alert Comper secondary and Allegany took over on downs on its own 20 with 50 seconds remaining to be played.

Allegany Scores Quickly

Allegany began like a house afire, scoring quickly after the opening kickoff and tallying again early in the second period and looked as if it were going to have an easy time leading 13-0 at the half.

Jeep Spencer cracked thru tackle for 25 yards and the first score while Bob Anderson took it over from 3 yards out for the second tally. Dick Widdows kicked the point after the first touchdown.

The Bulldog's famed passing attack failed to click, picking up only 39 yards on 2 completions in 14 tries with 2 aerials intercepted, although several of the tosses were right in the hands of intended receivers and dropped.

Most of Allegany's yardage was gained on the ground with the Camper forward wall having the best of the going in the first half and Martinsburg the second.

Joe Hager, Don Fletcher, Mike Birmingham, Jack Robeson, Eirich and Spencer were best for Allegany while Jack Kibler, Claude Smallwood, Gerry Hinton, Merl Spickler, Mel Hamilton, Alger and Potts were outstanding for the losers. The lineups:

Rocky Graziano Triumphs Over Janiro In New York

10,461 Greet Verdict In Fight At Garden

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (INS) — Rocky Graziano, the used car of the middleweight class, bombed his way back into prominence tonight with a wild-swinging ten-round decision over clock-watching Tony Janiro.

The decision, greeted roaringly by a 10,461 Madison Square Garden crowd, was unanimous, although the vote was close because Rocky had th fifth round taken away because of a low blow.

This was not entirely Rock's fault Th 28-year-old ex-champ fought more against a vicinity tonight than he did specifically against Janiro. As often as not, Janiro was in the vicinity.

One time, in the eighth round, Rocky belted the Youngstown cherub so hard Janiro's mouthguard took off like the V-2 rockets at White Sands, New Mex.

Janiro, who fought Graziano to a draw seven months ago, stepped back and looked at the clock in the Smoky distance. He was looking at the clock all night. Once Graziano hit him so hard he looked at the wrong end of the Garden.

On the INS score card, Graziano won the third, fifth, sixth, eighth, ninth and tenth rounds. Janiro got the first, second and seventh with the fourth even. Referee Ruby Goldstein and one judge scored it five rounds apiece, but voted for Rocky on points. Judge Arthur Schwartz had it six-four Graziano.

This was Janiro's 23rd birthday, and he discovered it is an age when life does not begin. He was tired at the finish, and Graziano socked him almost at will in the final stages. The fight ended with the Ohio cutie outside the ropes, having half-stumbled and half-bounced off a Graziano right hand. He could not see the clock from there.

The crowd paid $55,270.

Charles Town Host To Beall

New Jersey Silents Test Romney Today

Coach Joe Hoopengardner's Beall High School football team will play Charles Town High School at Charles Town, W. Va., and the West Virginia School for the Deaf will play host to the New Jersey School for the Deaf (Trenton) at Romney in scholastic games billed for today.

Beall will go after its 4th straight victory when it faces Coach "Zip" Lorenz's Panthers in Jefferson county. Charles Town whipped Keyser 19-6 and Beall defeated Keyser 41-0. If comparative scores mean anything the Mountain City eleven should take this one.

Beall's starting lineup will comprise:

Ends — Hawkins and Thompson; tackles—Rice and Fisher; guards—Lennox and Duncan; center—Workman; quarterback—Gray; halfbacks—Brady and Miller; fullback — Gaudio.

Paul Thompson will play right end in place of Leland Folk who is suffering from rib injuries.

The Beall squad will leave from the school this morning at 8 o'clock by Blue Ridge bus.

It's the 4th meeting of Beall and Charles Town and the Mountaineers will be angling for their first win. The West Virginians won three straight in the series that started in 1947—13-0, 13-0 and 12-6.

Coach Glenn Hawkins' West Virginia Deaf School gridders will be engaging in their 6th game of the season when they tangle with the New Jersey eleven today. The Romney Silents have won four out of five games played today including a 32-6 decision over the Virginia School for the Deaf.

Joe Gordon Is Free To Take Pilot's Job

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 27 (AP) —Joe (Flash) Gordon, the ex-New York Yankee and Cleveland ace, says he now is free to take the manager's job with the Pacific Coast League club here.

Gordon said last night he learned the Boston Red Sox would not give him waivers to permit him to leave the majors.

But, he added, he resorted to another device in baseball law—that of getting himself declared a free agent by Cleveland, which held his contract. As a ten-year man in the majors, Gordon had that privilege.

Believe It or Not

IN AN AMAZING feat, Ronnie Horwath, University of Detroit halfback, electrified Motor City fans when he took the opening kickoff in recent game with Hillsdale and dashed 96 yards for a score and repeated on the second half kickoff by sprinting 96 yards again for another score. He's a junior on the Titan squad. (International)

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 27. (AP)—A blocked pass in the end zone, a snagged free ball, a 102 yard run with a lateral thrown in all in one play in the last few minutes broke Potomac State's six-game winning streak today, 22 to 19, at the hands of George Washington University's Jayvees of Washington, D. C.

Potomac's Catamounts were leading 19 to 16 with time running out when Kenny Belliveau, G-W halfback, deflected Ted Lauer's pass intended for Cecil Perkins in the Washington end done.

The ball bounded into the arms of the young Colonials center Korcheck, who ran out to the 15, then lateraled to Bill Fox who sprinted 85 yards for the winning touchdown.

George Washington held a 14-13 edge at half time. In the opening period Belliveau blocked Lauer's punt on the State 16 and fell on the ball in the end zone for the initial score. Carl Bodolus kicked the ertra point.

Later in the same period GW recovered a State fumble on the latter's 37 and drove from there for the score with Fox registering from the one. Bodolus convertedfl

Bob Johnson and John Caldwell worked a pass play that covered 53 yards for Potomac's initial score and the former kicked the point. Then another aerial, Johnson to Ted Lauer, which ate up 89 yards, put the home team on the short end of a 14-13 score at the halfway mark when Johnson's kick for point was blocked.

Potomac forged to the front in the third quarter on Burda's 54 yard touchdown gallop. Johnson's kick for point was blocked. GW cut the margin to three points at the close of the period when Lauer was tackled in the end zone for a safety.

Prior to the Colonials' pass snatching act late in the final stanza, Potomac, with John Matkowsky and Burda alternating, drove 75 yards to the GW 4.

Airline Is Sued For Horse's Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP) — Six sportsmen sued an airline for $250,000 today because their fractious racing stallion became unnerved and injured itself fatally during a transatlantic flight.

The suit, which charged negligence, was brought in Supreme Court against the Seaboard and Western Airlines, Inc.

It charged that when the blooded stallion, Djelal, was being flown here from Paris in 1948 to be placed in stud at Claiborne, Ky., a shipment of dogs also was aboard the plane. The barking of the dogs, the suit declared, caused the horse to thrash about suffering fatal injuries.

The suit was brought by Albert B. Hancock, Harry F. Guggenheim, John D. Hertz, Henry C. Phipps, William Woodward and Grant A. Dorland.

Yanks To Play Bears Before 50,000 Sunday

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Ted Collins, who has lost a fabulous sum backing pro football teams, is due to get some of it back this Sunday when his New York Yanks clash with the Chicago Bears in Yankee Stadium.

This National Football League contest between the one-two teams in the loop's national division has the whole town talking and a crowd of around 50,000 may pay their way into the ball park.

The Yanks pace the division with a 5-1 record while the Bears are nipping at their heels with a 4-1 slate.

Besides the battle for the lead, the contest offers an eagerly awaited quarterback and passing duel between New York's George Ratterman and the Bears' Johnny Lujack.

HERE TONIGHT—Jimmy Caras, above, world's pocket billiards champion, will appear in an exhibition tonight at 8 o'clock at the Scoreboard Billiard Parlor, North Mechanic Street. Caras is from Upper Darby, Pa., and won the title for the first time in 1938. Last year he regained the championship by defeating Willie Mosconi.

Terp Booters Win, Duke Captain Hurt

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 27 (AP) — Maryland's booters retained the lead in Southern Conference soccer play today by downing Duke, 4 to 1.

The Blue Devils lost more than the ball game. They lost the services of their captain, Scott Wheaton, for the rest of the season when the left halfback collided with the Terps' captain Jim Belt in a kick at the ball. The Duke star's leg was broken just above the ankle.

Wheaton, a senior, is from Stroudsburg, Pa.

West Virginia Sets Dates For Hunting

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 27 (AP) — West Virginia's most widely hunted animal, the cottontail rabbit, will be legal game from November 11 through January 6.

Opening the same day as the rabbit season will be shorter seasons on quail and ring neck pheasants.

The Conservation Commission said the quail season would end December 9, while hunting of ring necks will be permitted only on two days, November 11 and 13.

Ring neck hunting will be limited to Brooke, Marshall, Mercer and Ohio counties, the commission said.

Shooting of ring necks will be confined to cocks, with a bag limit of two a day and two for the season.

The bag limit on rabbits is four a day or 24 for the season. Five quail a day or 25 for the season may be killed. There will be no open quail season in Preston and Tucker counties.

Terps Conceded Edge In Game With Duke

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 27 (AP)—Maryland is a one touchdown favorite over Duke in their Southern Conference football game here tomorrow. The kickoff is at 2 p. m.

Maryland will be trying to rebound from its 16-13 major upset loss to North Carolina State a week ago. But Duke, spearheaded by Billy Cox, the nation's No. 2 man on total offense and forward passes, will be seeking to keep unblemished its league record, now three victories in as many games.

The Blue Devils have won four and lost one. Maryland has a 3-2 record, and has lost its only league game.

In bagging their 7th consecutive triumph of the 1950 campaign and their 15th in a row over a two-year period, Coach William P. Hahn's warriors scored touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters while the home team tallied once in the third stanza.

Only three substitutes were sent into action — two by Hagerstown and one by Fort Hill.

Two of Fort Hill's tds were credited to Richard "Dick" Beard, the other two Ronnie Cage. Beard also scored both extra points from placement. Wantz collected the Hubs' seven points.

Hagerstown outplayed the Sentinels in the opening period but the Maroon and Gray was stopped twice — once in the 12 and again on the 17. The Sentinels were limited to 27 yards in this stanza.

Landis, Cage Spark Drive

Lynn Beightol's passing and the running of Ronnie Cage and Eddie Landis sparked Fort Hill's drive to the home team's 17 early in the second period. In three plays Landis toted the pigskin from the 30 to 2 and Cage climaxed the march by plunging from there for the six-pointer. Beard's kick for the point was wide.

During the second quarter Beightol completed three of five aerials for 30 yards and Cage and Landis carried the ball nine times between them for 41 yards.

Fort Hill made the count 14-0 in the third stanza when Beard skirted an end for the final five yards and then booted the extra point. This drive started when Don Brake recovered Kline's fumble on the Hagerstown 31. Landis picked up two yards, Beard made a first down in the 20 and Beightol's pass to Landis carried from the nine to five.

Hubs March 94 Yards

Hagerstown's lone score came late in the third period when Wantz climaxed a 94-yard drive by smashing over from the two. He also converted via placement.

The Sentinels final six-pointer came in the final period when Beard brought a 39-yard march to a climax by going over from the one foot line. His kick for the point was also good.

Approximately 6,000 persons witnessed the contest, the 15th of the series. It was Fort Hill's 12th win, against two losses and one tie.

The Sentinels were hampered considerably by four 15-yard penalties, all for roughing the kicker. The Hahnmen rolled up 217 yards via the air and overland while Hagerstown's total net yardage gained was 155.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Ronie Sisk, hard-running Allegany High quarterback, was both the goat and hero in the Campers' thrilling 19-13 victory over an inspired Martinsburg (W. Va.) High Bulldogs eleven last night at Fort Hill stadium before a slim crowd of 1,800.

The six-foot Alco signal-caller fumbled on several occasions, twice punted very poorly for distances of less than five yards and set up both of Martinsburg's scores, but redeemed himself long enough to make a scintillating 50-yard run in the third quarter for the Campers' winning touchdown.

Wild Third Period

A wild and wooly third stanza kept the small Friday night turnout on its feet almost continuously as Martinsburg's Bulldogs rallied to come from behind to tie the score with two quick six-pointers after trailing 13-0 at halftime only to see Sisk break the game open with his sparkling run.

Bulldogs Are Inspired

It was an inspired, fighting team of West Virginians that took the field in the second half two touchdowns behind the charges of Coach Bob Pence.

But after forcing Allegany to punt early in the stanza Coach John Coburn's eleven took over with a vengeance. Jack Potts scampered 17 yards to the Alco 34 and Quarterback Mel Hamilton took the ball thru center for 20 more to the AHS 14. Two cracks at the line gained four yards and then Fullback John Alger smashed thru right guard for the score. Potts' pass to end Glenn Everhart made it 13-7 AHS.

On the first scrimmage play after the ensuing kickoff Sisk fumbled on his own 18 and Chuck Eirich, Camper halfback, recovered on the Alco five. Back in his end zone to punt Sisk booted a very high, poor punt that went out of bounds on the AHS 3, an actual loss of two yards on the play. Martinsburg took over and Alger scored again on a line buck to knot the count. Sisk partly redeemed himself by knocking down the pass for the extra point.

Sisk Scores For AHS

After Bulldogs kicked off again Allegany took the ball on its 38. A 15-yard penalty for roughness against Martinsburg put the ball on the midfield stripe moments later and set the stage for Sisk to score on his half-century gallop. The quarterback took the pigskin around right end, faked a pitchout to Eirich, cut back and outran the Martinsburg secondary for the tie breaking and winning touchdown.

Another fumble and a second bad punt by Sisk almost cost Allegany the game then in the final quarter. With the Campers threatening on the Martinsburg 34 with third down and 12 Ronnie fumbled a pitchout attempt and Bernard Spencer recovered for the Pencemen for a 13-yard loss. Then the luckless Camper quarter attempted to punt and got off a 4-yarder to the Martinsburg 43.

Here Martinsburg gambled everything in a last ditch drive for the winning score with time fast running out. A 15-yard penalty against Allegany put the ball on the Alco 39 and Alger and Potts combined to carry to the AHS 23. Two cracks at the line put the ball on the Alco 20, but two passes were batted down by the alert Comper secondary and Allegany took over on downs on its own 20 with 50 seconds remaining to be played.

Allegany Scores Quickly

Allegany began like a house afire, scoring quickly after the opening kickoff and tallying again early in the second period and looked as if it were going to have an easy time leading 13-0 at the half.

Jeep Spencer cracked thru tackle for 25 yards and the first score while Bob Anderson took it over from 3 yards out for the second tally. Dick Widdows kicked the point after the first touchdown.

The Bulldog's famed passing attack failed to click, picking up only 39 yards on 2 completions in 14 tries with 2 aerials intercepted, although several of the tosses were right in the hands of intended receivers and dropped.

Most of Allegany's yardage was gained on the ground with the Camper forward wall having the best of the going in the first half and Martinsburg the second.

Joe Hager, Don Fletcher, Mike Birmingham, Jack Robeson, Eirich and Spencer were best for Allegany while Jack Kibler, Claude Smallwood, Gerry Hinton, Merl Spickler, Mel Hamilton, Alger and Potts were outstanding for the losers. The lineups:

Rocky Graziano Triumphs Over Janiro In New York

10,461 Greet Verdict In Fight At Garden

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (INS) — Rocky Graziano, the used car of the middleweight class, bombed his way back into prominence tonight with a wild-swinging ten-round decision over clock-watching Tony Janiro.

The decision, greeted roaringly by a 10,461 Madison Square Garden crowd, was unanimous, although the vote was close because Rocky had th fifth round taken away because of a low blow.

This was not entirely Rock's fault Th 28-year-old ex-champ fought more against a vicinity tonight than he did specifically against Janiro. As often as not, Janiro was in the vicinity.

One time, in the eighth round, Rocky belted the Youngstown cherub so hard Janiro's mouthguard took off like the V-2 rockets at White Sands, New Mex.

Janiro, who fought Graziano to a draw seven months ago, stepped back and looked at the clock in the Smoky distance. He was looking at the clock all night. Once Graziano hit him so hard he looked at the wrong end of the Garden.

On the INS score card, Graziano won the third, fifth, sixth, eighth, ninth and tenth rounds. Janiro got the first, second and seventh with the fourth even. Referee Ruby Goldstein and one judge scored it five rounds apiece, but voted for Rocky on points. Judge Arthur Schwartz had it six-four Graziano.

This was Janiro's 23rd birthday, and he discovered it is an age when life does not begin. He was tired at the finish, and Graziano socked him almost at will in the final stages. The fight ended with the Ohio cutie outside the ropes, having half-stumbled and half-bounced off a Graziano right hand. He could not see the clock from there.

The crowd paid $55,270.

Charles Town Host To Beall

New Jersey Silents Test Romney Today

Coach Joe Hoopengardner's Beall High School football team will play Charles Town High School at Charles Town, W. Va., and the West Virginia School for the Deaf will play host to the New Jersey School for the Deaf (Trenton) at Romney in scholastic games billed for today.

Beall will go after its 4th straight victory when it faces Coach "Zip" Lorenz's Panthers in Jefferson county. Charles Town whipped Keyser 19-6 and Beall defeated Keyser 41-0. If comparative scores mean anything the Mountain City eleven should take this one.

Beall's starting lineup will comprise:

Ends — Hawkins and Thompson; tackles—Rice and Fisher; guards—Lennox and Duncan; center—Workman; quarterback—Gray; halfbacks—Brady and Miller; fullback — Gaudio.

Paul Thompson will play right end in place of Leland Folk who is suffering from rib injuries.

The Beall squad will leave from the school this morning at 8 o'clock by Blue Ridge bus.

It's the 4th meeting of Beall and Charles Town and the Mountaineers will be angling for their first win. The West Virginians won three straight in the series that started in 1947—13-0, 13-0 and 12-6.

Coach Glenn Hawkins' West Virginia Deaf School gridders will be engaging in their 6th game of the season when they tangle with the New Jersey eleven today. The Romney Silents have won four out of five games played today including a 32-6 decision over the Virginia School for the Deaf.

Joe Gordon Is Free To Take Pilot's Job

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 27 (AP) —Joe (Flash) Gordon, the ex-New York Yankee and Cleveland ace, says he now is free to take the manager's job with the Pacific Coast League club here.

Gordon said last night he learned the Boston Red Sox would not give him waivers to permit him to leave the majors.

But, he added, he resorted to another device in baseball law—that of getting himself declared a free agent by Cleveland, which held his contract. As a ten-year man in the majors, Gordon had that privilege.

Believe It or Not

IN AN AMAZING feat, Ronnie Horwath, University of Detroit halfback, electrified Motor City fans when he took the opening kickoff in recent game with Hillsdale and dashed 96 yards for a score and repeated on the second half kickoff by sprinting 96 yards again for another score. He's a junior on the Titan squad. (International)

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 27. (AP)—A blocked pass in the end zone, a snagged free ball, a 102 yard run with a lateral thrown in, all in one play in the last few minutes broke Potomac State's six-game winning streak today, 22 to 19, at the hands of George Washington University's Jayvees of Washington, D. C.

Potomac's Catamounts were leading 19 to 16 with time running out when Kenny Belliveau, G-W halfback, deflected Ted Lauer's pass intended for Cecil Perkins in the Washington end done.

The ball bounded into the arms of the young Colonials center Korcheck, who ran out to the 15, then lateraled to Bill Fox who sprinted 85 yards for the winning touchdown.

George Washington held a 14-13 edge at half time. In the opening period Belliveau blocked Lauer's punt on the State 16 and fell on the ball in the end zone for the initial score. Carl Bodolus kicked the extra point.

Later in the same period GW recovered a State fumble on the latter's 37 and drove from there for the score with Fox registering from the one. Bodolus convertedfl

Bob Johnson and John Caldwell worked a pass play that covered 53 yards for Potomac's initial score and the former kicked the point. Then another aerial, Johnson to Ted Lauer, which ate up 89 yards, put the home team on the short end of a 14-13 score at the halfway mark when Johnson's kick for point was blocked.

Potomac forged to the front in the third quarter on Burda's 54 yard touchdown gallop. Johnson's kick for point was blocked. GW cut the margin to three points at the close of the period when Lauer was tackled in the end zone for a safety.

Prior to the Colonials' pass snatching act late in the final stanza, Potomac, with John Matkowsky and Burda alternating, drove 75 yards to the GW 4.

Airline Is Sued For Horse's Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP) — Six sportsmen sued an airline for $250,000 today because their fractious racing stallion became unnerved and injured itself fatally during a transatlantic flight.

The suit, which charged negligence, was brought in Supreme Court against the Seaboard and Western Airlines, Inc.

It charged that when the blooded stallion, Djelal, was being flown here from Paris in 1948 to be placed in stud at Claiborne, Ky., a shipment of dogs also was aboard the plane. The barking of the dogs, the suit declared, caused the horse to thrash about suffering fatal injuries.

The suit was brought by Albert B. Hancock, Harry F. Guggenheim, John D. Hertz, Henry C. Phipps, William Woodward and Grant A. Dorland.

Yanks To Play Bears Before 50,000 Sunday

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Ted Collins, who has lost a fabulous sum backing pro football teams, is due to get some of it back this Sunday when his New York Yanks clash with the Chicago Bears in Yankee Stadium.

This National Football League contest between the one-two teams in the loop's national division has the whole town talking and a crowd of around 50,000 may pay their way into the ball park.

The Yanks pace the division with a 5-1 record while the Bears are nipping at their heels with a 4-1 slate.

Besides the battle for the lead, the contest offers an eagerly awaited quarterback and passing duel between New York's George Ratterman and the Bears' Johnny Lujack.

HERE TONIGHT—Jimmy Caras, above, world's pocket billiards champion, will appear in an exhibition tonight at 8 o'clock at the Scoreboard Billiard Parlor, North Mechanic Street. Caras is from Upper Darby, Pa., and won the title for the first time in 1938. Last year he regained the championship by defeating Willie Mosconi.

Two field goals by Billy Andrews in the second quarter gave Coach Johnny Meyers' Central High School booters a 2-1 decision over Bruce High School of Westernport yesterday and gave the Lonaconing eleven sole possession of first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League.

Beall was knocked out of a first place deadlock with Central when Barton High battled the Mountain City eleven to a 1-1 tie.

Foley's penalty goal gave the winless Bruce team a 1-0 lead in the first period but Andrews settled the issue in the Orange and Black's favor by scoring twice in the second stanza.

Quail Eichhorn, Don McKenzie and Henry Stafford played best for Lonaconing while Gene Wilkinson, Bill McKenzie and Billy Smith were Bruce's outstanding players.

In the contest at Frostburg, Tim Clark put Barton out in front in the opening period by scoring on a free kick from the 21-yard line while the ball rolled through Goalie Arnone's legs. "Mo" Baker converted for Beall on Willetts Duncan's corner kick in the third quarter.

Bill Hyde, Arnold Tichnell and Tim Clark, of Barton, and Bob Dunn, Dick McClintock, "Mo" Baker and Willets Duncan of Beall played outstanding games.

Terp Booters Win, Duke Captain Hurt

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 27 (AP) — Maryland's booters retained the lead in Southern Conference soccer play today by downing Duke, 4 to 1.

The Blue Devils lost more than the ball game. They lost the services of their captain, Scott Wheaton, for the rest of the season when the left halfback collided with the Terps' captain Jim Belt in a kick at the ball. The Duke star's leg was broken just above the ankle.

Wheaton, a senior, is from Stroudsburg, Pa.

West Virginia Sets Dates For Hunting

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 27 (AP) — West Virginia's most widely hunted animal, the cottontail rabbit, will be legal game from November 11 through January 6.

Opening the same day as the rabbit season will be shorter seasons on quail and ring neck pheasants.

The Conservation Commission said the quail season would end December 9, while hunting of ring necks will be permitted only on two days, November 11 and 13.

Ring neck hunting will be limited to Brooke, Marshall, Mercer and Ohio counties, the commission said.

Shooting of ring necks will be confined to cocks, with a bag limit of two a day and two for the season.

The bag limit on rabbits is four a day or 24 for the season. Five quail a day or 25 for the season may be killed. There will be no open quail season in Preston and Tucker counties.

Terps Conceded Edge In Game With Duke

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 27 (AP)—Maryland is a one touchdown favorite over Duke in their Southern Conference football game here tomorrow. The kickoff is at 2 p. m.

Maryland will be trying to rebound from its 16-13 major upset loss to North Carolina State a week ago. But Duke, spearheaded by Billy Cox, the nation's No. 2 man on total offense and forward passes, will be seeking to keep unblemished its league record, now three victories in as many games.

The Blue Devils have won four and lost one. Maryland has a 3-2 record, and has lost its only league game.

Jockey Is Injured At Garden State

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 27. (AP)—Jockey William J. Passmore, 18, of New York City, was sent to the hospital here (Cooper Hospital) today with a possible fractured skull following his fall from the filly, Christie C.

Young Passmore is the son of the well known ex-jockey, Willie Passmore.

The horse stumbled at the start and threw young Passmore heavily to the ground, where he was possibly kicked.

In bagging their 7th consecutive triumph of the 1950 campaign and their 15th in a row over a two-year period, Coach William P. Hahn's warriors scored touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters while the home team tallied once in the third stanza.

Only three substitutes were sent into action — two by Hagerstown and one by Fort Hill.

Two of Fort Hill's tds were credited to Richard "Dick" Beard, the other two Ronnie Cage. Beard also scored both extra points from placement. Wantz collected the Hubs' seven points.

Hagerstown outplayed the Sentinels in the opening period but the Maroon and Gray was stopped twice — once in the 12 and again on the 17. The Sentinels were limited to 27 yards in this stanza.

Landis, Cage Spark Drive

Lynn Beightol's passing and the running of Ronnie Cage and Eddie Landis sparked Fort Hill's drive to the home team's 17 early in the second period. In three plays Landis toted the pigskin from the 30 to 2 and Cage climaxed the march by plunging from there for the six-pointer. Beard's kick for the point was wide.

During the second quarter Beightol completed three of five aerials for 30 yards and Cage and Landis carried the ball nine times between them for 41 yards.

Fort Hill made the count 14-0 in the third stanza when Beard skirted an end for the final five yards and then booted the extra point. This drive started when Don Brake recovered Kline's fumble on the Hagerstown 31. Landis picked up two yards, Beard made a first down in the 20 and Beightol's pass to Landis carried from the nine to five.

Hubs March 94 Yards

Hagerstown's lone score came late in the third period when Wantz climaxed a 94-yard drive by smashing over from the two. He also converted via placement.

The Sentinels final six-pointer came in the final period when Beard brought a 39-yard march to a climax by going over from the one foot line. His kick for the point was also good.

Approximately 6,000 persons witnessed the contest, the 15th of the series. It was Fort Hill's 12th win, against two losses and one tie.

The Sentinels were hampered considerably by four 15-yard penalties, all for roughing the kicker. The Hahnmen rolled up 217 yards via the air and overland while Hagerstown's total net yardage gained was 155.

Selima Stakes Carded For Today At Laurel

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 27 (AP)—Mrs. E. duPont Weir's Royal Governor in a sizzling stretch charge, won the Star Porter by a length here today, favored at $5.60 for two odds.

Carrying 122 pounds, Royal Governor overtook Flying Weather a few strides from the wire in the six-furlong sprint which served as a prep for next week's Pimlico Special for the victor.

Another length behind Flying Weather, came Magnet which was a close second choice in the parimutuel wagering. Royal Governor sprinted the three-quarters of a mile in 1:11 3-5.

Tomorrow the largest turnout of the fall season is expected to turn out for the 25th renewal of the $25,000 added Selima Stakes which drew 11 starters. The gross value of the two-year-old filly event is $50,270 if all 11 go to the post.

Spats Finally Wins

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Spats, who has been to the post 20 times this season without getting into the winners' circle, made it on her 21st try in capturing the Level Best, an allowance sprint of six furlongs, feature of a lack-lustre card at Jamaica race track today.

The 5-year-old daughter of Cravat-Transformation won by a nose from Katherine R. Ponda's Luring, a 20-1 shot, after a furious drive the length of the stretch. A length and a quarter back of Luring came Woodvale Farm's Tall Weeds. The favored Roman Zephyr was unplaced.

Joe Steals Show

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone, engaged in a furious battle with Willie Shoemaker for honors as the nation's leading rider of the year, turned in his third saddle triumph of the day in the featured Bordertown Purse at Garden State Park before a crowd of 10,784.

His third winner of the afternoon was John Marsch's Whirling Dough who got to the wire at the end of the one mile and a sixteenth journey a nodding head before Fightin Fleet, the favorite. Another head farther back came Artist Life to be third in a field of six.

Culmone continued his sensational riding in the seventh race, getting Glen Riddle Farms' Faraway home first at 5 to one.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is being "sentimental" childish?

Answer: Probably, though this is one case in which being childish does no great harm. The tendency to cry at beautiful or touching incidents or situations, real or fictitious, seems to grow out of nostalgia for the "Golden Age" of infancy when we still believed life would bring us everything we wanted. Beauty revives memories of how our early dreams were shattered, while pathos inspires the self-pity that our disillusionment created. Sentimentality is dangerous only if it makes us take romance too seriously.

Is being "unsociable" neurotic?

Answer: Yes, if it is based upon self-consciousness or on the feeling that most people want to hurt or take advantage of you. But the kind of "sociability" that makes you feel uneasy when alone and comfortable only when you're with a lot of other people is no less so. There's no reason why we should all be alike, so if you are the sort of person who would rather have a few close friends than spend your time with casual acquaintances, no one is justified in calling you abnormal. If you have and want no friends at all, that is another story.

Should schoolgirls have part-time jobs?

Answer: On the whole, no, to judge by the findings of a study reported by Richard N. Bateman in the Journal of Educational Research. Students in three high schools who had paid, part-time jobs were "paired" with non-workers of the same age, school grade, sex and family background. Tests revealed no difference in intelligence, but eleventh-grade girls with jobs consistently scored lower in emotional development and social adjustment than those who were free to spend their leisure time in social activities.

Royal Governor Annexes Feature

Selima Stakes Carded For Today At Laurel

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 27 (AP)—Mrs. E. duPont Weir's Royal Governor in a sizzling stretch charge, won the Star Porter by a length here today, favored at $5.60 for two odds.

Carrying 122 pounds, Royal Governor overtook Flying Weather a few strides from the wire in the six-furlong sprint which served as a prep for next week's Pimlico Special for the victor.

Another length behind Flying Weather, came Magnet which was a close second choice in the parimutuel wagering. Royal Governor sprinted the three-quarters of a mile in 1:11 3-5.

Tomorrow the largest turnout of the fall season is expected to turn out for the 25th renewal of the $25,000 added Selima Stakes which drew 11 starters. The gross value of the two-year-old filly event is $50,270 if all 11 go to the post.

Spats Finally Wins

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Spats, who has been to the post 20 times this season without getting into the winners' circle, made it on her 21st try in capturing the Level Best, an allowance sprint of six furlongs, feature of a lack-lustre card at Jamaica race track today.

The 5-year-old daughter of Cravat-Transformation won by a nose from Katherine R. Ponda's Luring, a 20-1 shot, after a furious drive the length of the stretch. A length and a quarter back of Luring came Woodvale Farm's Tall Weeds. The favored Roman Zephyr was unplaced.

Joe Steals Show

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone, engaged in a furious battle with Willie Shoemaker for honors as the nation's leading rider of the year, turned in his third saddle triumph of the day in the featured Bordertown Purse at Garden State Park before a crowd of 10,784

His third winner of the afternoon was John Marsch's Whirling Dough who got to the wire at the end of the one mile and a sixteenth journey a nodding head before Fightin Fleet, the favorite. Another head farther back came Artist Life to be third in a field of six.

Culmone continued his sensational riding in the seventh race, getting Glen Riddle Farms' Faraway home first at 5 to one.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is being "sentimental" childish?

Answer: Probably, though this is one case in which being childish does no great harm. The tendency to cry at beautiful or touching incidents or situations, real or fictitious, seems to grow out of nostalgia for the "Golden Age" of infancy when we still believed life would bring us everything we wanted. Beauty revives memories of how our early dreams were shattered, while pathos inspires the self-pity that our disillusionment created. Sentimentality is dangerous only if it makes us take romance too seriously.

Is being "unsociable" neurotic?

Answer: Yes, if it is based upon self-consciousness or on the feeling that most people want to hurt or take advantage of you. But the kind of "sociability" that makes you feel uneasy when alone and comfortable only when you're with a lot of other people is no less so. There's no reason why we should all be alike, so if you are the sort of person who would rather have a few close friends than spend your time with casual acquaintances, no one is justified in calling you abnormal. If you have and want no friends at all, that is another story.

Should schoolgirls have part-time jobs?

Answer: On the whole, no, to judge by the findings of a study reported by Richard N. Bateman in the Journal of Educational Research. Students in three high schools who had paid, part-time jobs were "paired" with non-workers of the same age, school grade, sex and family background. Tests revealed no difference in intelligence, but eleventh-grade girls with jobs consistently scored lower in emotional development and social adjustment than those who were free to spend their leisure time in social activities.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27 (INS)—Fellow columnist, who's going to give me competition by appearing in the Sunday Los Angeles Examiner—I mean of course, Cecil B. DeMille—is giving me a story before the competition starts. Ater that I suspect I'll be on my own where my old friend is concerned.

C. B. tells me he's bringing Pierre Cressoy, handsome, six feet one, 26-year-old French actor and the heartthrob of all the French girls, to Hollywood for "The Greatest Show On Earth." Pierre gets here next week by plane.

If his test is all DeMille expects, and it should be since his last picture, "La Circe," was well received, Pierre will play an arrogant aerialist and lady's man.

• — • — •

Red-haired Rhonda Fleming, one of our top glamour girls, gets a chance to be really sexy in "Little Egypt" which Jack Gross is making at U-I. Rhonda crowded both Shelley Winters and Yvonne De Carlo out of the contention—or her tests did, let's put it that way.

Rhonda Fleming

She plays a cooch dancer at the Chicago World Fair in 1893. Yep, that's before my time, but I'm told they had a midway where those cooch dancers drew in all the gentlemen customers—and that, Rhonda can very well do.

• — • — •

Chit-chat: Marlene Dietrich, I hear from one of my London spies, has arrived in England for the Jimmy Stewart picture, "No Highway." It is whispered Marlene has taken up where she left off with Michael Wilding, the British actor who was her big heartbeat when she worked with him last year.

One thing I'll say for Marlene, her boy friends always remain faithful. Eric Remarque, that New York editor, and a few more. Well, Marlene, in spite of being a grandma, is a gorgeous gal.

• — • — •

My old friend, Richard English, comes up in the news again with a new story he has written called "College Days." He has just sold it to Warners.

It's one of Dick's typical comedies with music. Ever since Dick was with Rudy Vallee he has managed to inject music somewhere in his stories.

Both he and Warners see Fred Astaire in the lead. In fact, Dick wrote his story with Fred in mind. Well, that's nice casting if you can get it.

• — • — •

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Mrs. Betty Montgomery, wife of Actor Robert Montgomery, is reported in Las Vegas for the usual reason. Sad if this marriage of 22 years has broken up.

Madame Mesta attended a matinee of "Call Me Madam," and who do you think went with her? Mrs. Harry Truman, no less.

• — • — •

Joe DiMaggio, my favorite baseball hero, is at Ojai Inn, and with him is the former Mrs. DiMaggio, who has been ill, and their son. As I said a few weeks ago, it looks very muck like a reconciliation.

June Horne, Jackie Cooper's ex, and Buddy Rudolph, wealthy young business man, have that marriage look in their eyes.

Peter Lawford, with a beard grown for "Kangaroo," was at the Saddle and Sirloin for dinner the night before he left for Australia. I saw him later at a preview with Linda Peterson, a pretty model.

Frank Sinatra has sent an S.O.S. for Nick Castle to come to New York and stage the dances for Frankie's TV show. So Nick goes back to help.

Irene Wrightsman McAvoy, who hurried to New York to see her father, Charles Wrightsman, oil millionaire, is expected home shortly. Her father, who underwent a serious operation, is much better.

Eddie Norris at Charley Foy's with Hungarian Dancer Teresa Grosovich. Eddie, off the screen for a long time, just finished "Breakthrough" for Brynie Foy, and Brynie has signed him for another.

Peggy Cummins has just left Hollywood to go to England to marry Derek Dunnett. I thought she had already gone to London. She'd better hurry there or she won't have that October marriage she planned.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WASHINGTON (INS)

WHEN CONGRESS returns to Washington this winter the Air Force will be called upon to defend a dramatic arm of its service which should need no defense—the ability of its men and machines to support ground forces.

All through the Korean war there has been an undercurrent of semi-malicious needling of the Air Force's job of fending for the Korean troops when the odds were heavily against them, and clearing a path for them when they were able finally to advance.

It will be charged by carefully briefed or ruggedly ignorant members of the committee concerned that the Air Force failed dismally, as compared to the Marine air arm's tactical support of its leathernecks. Inferentially, or openly, it will be said that the Air Force must revise its training and perhaps its jet-purchasing program, or yield some of its hard-won sovereignty as a service.

If the customary defense tactics prevail, a handful of the highest-ranking Air Force generals—good men all—will be brought to the congressional hot seat and questioned sharply. The inevitable and tragic occasional mistakes made by our airmen, which cost a few lives, will be reviewed tartly—and for a damaging day or two the casual newspaper reader and radio listener will gain the impression that the Air Force killed more of our GIs than it saved.

• — • — •

Then, in all probability, the thing will blow over. But the scars will remain and the general cause of unification will not have been served.

It would not be wise nor even possible to deprive Congress of its ancient right to heckle the military, and serve as watchdog over military appropriations. For this country's basic tradition remains civilian rather than militaristic. But it doesn't necessarily follow that all members of all congressional committees are automatically expert in the military fields they probe. Some have been sold a bill of goods by other interests; some are just dopes.

What amounted to a secret smear campaign against the Air Force jets will be re-aired at the congressional hearing. It will be said that this type of machine, without which we would lose a modern air war, was preposterously unsuited for tactical support. It was "too fast."

The inference here would seem to be that we go back to obsolescent propellor-driven types of craft. Some Air Force officers fear that in the confusion it will be forgotten that if Russia had sent in its jets in support of the North Korean cause, no American propellor driven plane could have operated in Korea and, if we had no jets of our own, the land forces then most certainly would have been pushed into the sea. And with not only a shocking loss of life but an all but irreparable loss of face.

• — • — •

Trouble with congressional needling of all services is that the committees usually call only the generals and admirals. Most of these witnesses were not near the front and must substitute tedious facts and figures for graphic testimony.

In the case of the impending blast against the Air Force's grossly libeled ability to attune its gait to that of the inching progress of the gallant infantry, the Congress should hear from officers and men who fought in Korea and are alive today only because the Air Force, plus the Navy, Marine and Army air arms turned in a superb job—one that gave dirty and beleagured men on the ground below their only excuse to cheer.

The touching gratitude of ground troops for the work of the airmen was to be seen on all sides in Korea. Maybe it was best summed up one day at a First Cavalry regimental command post outside of Taegu when a grimy major touched the sleeve of Gen. George Stratemyer as he walked by and said, with emotion, "Sir, I don't know where the hell we'd be today if it wasn't for you guys."

Congress should hear from a few fellows like that, who could tell an affirmative story, rather than from Air Force generals who, placed on the defense, will be forced to give a negative form of defense.

Whether the impending probe was inspired by military elements still disgruntled by the form which unification took remains to be seen. We trust not. But there was and is glory enough for all arms serving in Korea. To create a bickering aftermath of such glory is to profane the memory of men who made unification work in the hardest way of all—by giving their lives.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON (INS)

WHEN CONGRESS returns to Washington this winter the Air Force will be called upon to defend a dramatic arm of its service which should need no defense—the ability of its men and machines to support ground forces.

All through the Korean war there has been an undercurrent of semi-malicious needling of the Air Force's job of fending for the Korean troops when the odds were heavily against them, and clearing a path for them when they were able finally to advance.

It will be charged by carefully briefed or ruggedly ignorant members of the committee concerned that the Air Force failed dismally, as compared to the Marine air arm's tactical support of its leathernecks. Inferentially, or openly, it will be said that the Air Force must revise its training and perhaps its jet-purchasing program, or yield some of its hard-won sovereignty as a service.

If the customary defense tactics prevail, a handful of the highest-ranking Air Force generals—good men all—will be brought to the congressional hot seat and questioned sharply. The inevitable and tragic occasional mistakes made by our airmen, which cost a few lives, will be reviewed tartly—and for a damaging day or two the casual newspaper reader and radio listener will gain the impression that the Air Force killed more of our GIs than it saved.

• — • — •

Then, in all probability, the thing will blow over. But the scars will remain and the general cause of unification will not have been served.

It would not be wise nor even possible to deprive Congress of its ancient right to heckle the military, and serve as watchdog over military appropriations. For this country's basic tradition remains civilian rather than militaristic. But it doesn't necessarily follow that all members of all congressional committees are automatically expert in the military fields they probe. Some have been sold a bill of goods by other interests; some are just dopes.

What amounted to a secret smear campaign against the Air Force jets will be re-aired at the congressional hearing. It will be said that this type of machine, without which we would lose a modern air war, was preposterously unsuited for tactical support. It was "too fast."

The inference here would seem to be that we go back to obsolescent propellor-driven types of craft. Some Air Force officers fear that in the confusion it will be forgotten that if Russia had sent in its jets in support of the North Korean cause, no American propellor driven plane could have operated in Korea and, if we had no jets of our own, the land forces then most certainly would have been pushed into the sea. And with not only a shocking loss of life but an all but irreparable loss of face.

• — • — •

Trouble with congressional needling of all services is that the committees usually call only the generals and admirals. Most of these witnesses were not near the front and must substitute tedious facts and figures for graphic testimony.

In the case of the impending blast against the Air Force's grossly libeled ability to attune its gait to that of the inching progress of the gallant infantry, the Congress should hear from officers and men who fought in Korea and are alive today only because the Air Force, plus the Navy, Marine and Army air arms turned in a superb job—one that gave dirty and beleagured men on the ground below their only excuse to cheer.

The touching gratitude of ground troops for the work of the airmen was to be seen on all sides in Korea. Maybe it was best summed up one day at a First Cavalry regimental command post outside of Taegu when a grimy major touched the sleeve of Gen. George Stratemyer as he walked by and said, with emotion, "Sir, I don't know where the hell we'd be today if it wasn't for you guys."

Congress should hear from a few fellows like that, who could tell an affirmative story, rather than from Air Force generals who, placed on the defense, will be forced to give a negative form of defense.

Whether the impending probe was inspired by military elements still disgruntled by the form which unification took remains to be seen. We trust not. But there was and is glory enough for all arms serving in Korea. To create a bickering aftermath of such glory is to profane the memory of men who made unification work in the hardest way of all—by giving their lives.

In Memoriam

In memory of Joseph H. Abe who died one year ago, October 28, 1949.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend,
We think of you often and will to the end.
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.
More and more each day we miss you.
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow.
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation to all those who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our dear Husband and Father, Cecil Rodda. We especially thank Rev. C. F. Zimmerman, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
Mrs. Wm. Rodda and Family

In Memoriam

In memory of Joseph H. Abe who died one year ago, October 28, 1949.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend,
We think of you often and will to the end.
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.
More and more each day we miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Wife, children & grandchildren

James E. Hadley vs. Bernice Louise Hadley. No. 21,935 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Plaintiff from the Defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

Bill states that the parties were married on July 24, 1936 in Lonaconing, Maryland and that they lived together in Allegany County until January 27, 1949 on which date the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff and declared her intention to live with him no longer; that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly from that time down to the present time; is of at least 18 months duration; is deliberate, final and beyond reasonable hope of reconciliation.

Three children, namely; Jo Ann Hadley, age 13, Thelma Louise Hadley, age 12 and Sonia Rae Hadley, age 7, were born to parties of the marriage, all of whom are in the possession and custody of the Plaintiff and whose permanent custody and guardianship is desired by the Plaintiff; that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, Maryland for more than one year last passed; that the Defendant is a non-resident of Maryland and her last known address was 616 Lincoln Avenue, Dayton, Ohio.

It is thereupon, this 5th day of October, 1950, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause this order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County, once a week for four weeks, before the 6th day of November, 1950, giving notice to the said Bernice Louise Hadley, absent Defendant, of the object and substance of this Bill and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 22nd day of November, 1950, to show cause, if any she has, why the decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Market Regains Small Part Of Thursday's Sharp Loss

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP) — The stock market, in a grudging advance, regained a small part of Thursday's sharp losses today.

Steels, rails and motors acted as the market's main supports. Gains ranged to a little more than $1 a share.

A substantial number of shares, at the same time, backed down a trifle but losses were small. Closing prices were a shade under the best marks of the day in most cases.

Trading today was sedate and volume dropped to 1,800,000 — which is still a day's business.

Two pieces of corporate news were credited with playing a large part in the recovery: Bethlehem Steel's $2 a share dividend announced after the close yesterday and General Motors record income for the first nine months.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 50 cents to $83.20. The three major groups — industrials, rails and utilities — all moved up with utilities making the smallest contribution.

Bethlehem Steel's second most active issue, closed $1.62 higher at $47 a share.

GM stock, the most active issue, finished 75 cents a share up at $50.87.

Some of the disappointment caused by official announcement Thursday that a stock split-up by Chrysler was not being considered apparently wore off. The issue advanced nearly $1 a share at one time but finished only 12 cents ahead at $77.62.

General Electric gave only small recognition to word of a $1 special dividend. Final price was $49 a share, up 37 cents.

Texas Co., down a bit at one time, switched to the plus side following news of a $1.50 a share extra. Final price was $1.12 a share higher at $75.50.

James E. Hadley vs. Bernice Louise Hadley. No. 21,935 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Plaintiff from the Defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

Bill states that the parties were married on July 24, 1936 in Lonaconing, Maryland and that they lived together in Allegany County until January 27, 1949 on which date the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff and declared her intention to live with him no longer; that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly from that time down to the present time; is of at least 18 months duration; is deliberate, final and beyond reasonable hope of reconciliation.

Three children, namely; Jo Ann Hadley, age 13, Thelma Louise Hadley, age 12 and Sonia Rae Hadley, age 7, were born to parties of the marriage, all of whom are in the possession and custody of the Plaintiff and whose permanent custody and guardianship is desired by the Plaintiff; that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, Maryland for more than one year last passed; that the Defendant is a non-resident of Maryland and her last known address was 616 Lincoln Avenue, Dayton, Ohio.

It is thereupon, this 5th day of October, 1950, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause this order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County, once a week for four weeks, before the 6th day of November, 1950, giving notice to the said Bernice Louise Hadley, absent Defendant, of the object and substance of this Bill and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 22nd day of November, 1950, to show cause, if any she has, why the decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Market Regains Small Part Of Thursday's Sharp Loss

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP) — The stock market, in a grudging advance, regained a small part of Thursday's sharp losses today.

Steels, rails and motors acted as the market's main supports. Gains ranged to a little more than $1 a share.

A substantial number of shares, at the same time, backed down a trifle but losses were small. Closing prices were a shade under the best marks of the day in most cases.

Trading today was sedate and volume dropped to 1,800,000 — which is still a day's business.

Two pieces of corporate news were credited with playing a large part in the recovery: Bethlehem Steel's $2 a share dividend announced after the close yesterday and General Motors record income for the first nine months.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 50 cents to $83.20. The three major groups — industrials, rails and utilities — all moved up with utilities making the smallest contribution.

Bethlehem Steel's second most active issue, closed $1.62 higher at $47 a share.

GM stock, the most active issue, finished 75 cents a share up at $50.87.

Some of the disappointment caused by official announcement Thursday that a stock split-up by Chrysler was not being considered apparently wore off. The issue advanced nearly $1 a share at one time but finished only 12 cents ahead at $77.62.

General Electric gave only small recognition to word of a $1 special dividend. Final price was $49 a share, up 37 cents.

Texas Co., down a bit at one time, switched to the plus side following news of a $1.50 a share extra. Final price was $1.12 a share higher at $75.50.

Police Nab Twin Youths In Car Thefts

Arrests Seen As End Of West Side Losses

City Police last night solved a stubborn case involving a series of stolen cars over a period of two or three weeks on the West Side with the arrest of twin brothers, John and James Parsons, age about 19, of 314 Washington street.

Almost nightly for the past eight or ten days, and on several other intermittent occasions during the past two or three weeks, residents of the West Side reported their cars stolen, moved or tampered with.

Police patrolled the area systematically and cautioned people who left their cars on the streets and in driveways to keep them locked. Cruisers were assigned to the area in an effort to pick up the culprits.

Within the past two or three nights suspicion centered around the Parsons twins and a third youth, possibly a fourth, whom police kept under almost constant surveillance.

On Thursday night, a car owned by Samuel Newmann, Locust Street, was stolen. On Friday night, a car owned by Patrick Creegan, Patterson Avenue. Police said they had established the fact that the Parsons twins and their companions had been in the areas and had been seen at these vehicles.

They had already located the youths in the vicinity where several other thefts occurred. Cars were taken from the vicinity of Fayette street, Rose Hill avenue, Springfield boulevard, Beall street and other areas. The thefts included a truck owned by Francis Mattingly, paint contractor.

Assistant Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney and Detective Ernest M. Powell worked on the case and were winding up the investigation last night.

At midnight they had the Parsons boys in custody at police headquarters and one of the twins had admitted several of the thefts, police said.

One of them also implicated another youth, whom police had also suspected, and Chief Gaffney said it appeared that they had finally found the boys who have created so much concern on the West Side.

Polide have been plagued recently by calls about prowlers and reports of car thefts.

"This should make everyone feel a little easier over that way," Chief Gaffney commented. He also noted that in almost all of the auto thefts, car owners had left their keys in the ignition. "We just never learn, do we," he said.

McKeldin Says Governor Lane Shifts Suddenly

Contends His Foe Led By Bosses

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin contended tonight Governor Lane, "after four years of open, notorious and total surrender to the bosses," has suddenly come out with the announcement he intends to represent the people.

In an address delivered over radio and television, the Republican candidate for governor predicted this "halo of political purity will fool no one."

He reviewed the recent firing of a police judge by Lane "not for any fault in performing his official duties, but because x x he would not agree to a deal Mr. Lane made with one faction instead of another."

"For years Mr. Lane's mind has been so taken up with political deals he is in a rut," McKeldin continued "He still thinks that his salvation lies in winning bosses to his cause."

The GOP nominee asserted Lane sponsored a bill to turn the State Roads Commission into a political body which he could hire and fire at will.

He also criticized the governor's dismissing "such valuable public servants as Mr. George P. Mahoney (defeated Democratic candidate for governor) from the State Racing Commission."

After he finally does fill some of the many empty positions in the state's appointive list, McKeldin added, the governor "often fails to follow their advice."

He mentioned specifically the Bowman Commission's report and the Highway Advisory Board.

The negotiations at the Kelly plant, underway for some time, were intensified this week following the announcement of the completion of negotiations with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company for a 12-cent-an hour package for some 25,000 URCLPWA workers.

A similar agreement was reached with the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

Snyder Lists Failures Of Administration

W. Va. Candidate Says GOP Must Win In Nov.

On November 7 veterans of World War II, their families and their friends, should vote against the Truman administration and all who support it because that administration has failed to win the peace that all veterans fought for, Melvin C. Snyder, Republican candidate for Congress, said last night at a rally in the Wadestown School, Morgantown, W. Va. The Kingwood attorney and veteran of two World Wars said the Truman administration failed to win the peace because of incompetence, lack of vision, and appeasement to Russia.

"A little over five years ago, we had the unconditional surrender of our three major enemies. We had the greatest military force in the world. This nation was presented with the opportunity of winning that peace for which we had expended so much of our human and material resources in that war."

Instead of seizing the opportunity to insure peace, Snyder said, the Truman administration "turned over to Russia many of the nations we had freed, because the Truman administration was taken with the idea that 'Old Joe was a good fellow.' President Truman said, 'I like Old Joe,' and every time people with their eyes open to the threat of communism tried to warn the American people, President Truman said they were dragging a 'red herring,' across the trail," Snyder continued.

"As a result of this appeasement policy, we agreed that Manchuria should go to the Communists, and we agreed to the division of Korea and the outright gift to Russia of the Kurile Islands. As a result of that appeasement, and the bungling and contradiction, we are cleaning up a campaign in Korea today. Only yesterday the papers announced that we were sending more divisions overseas to do again the job we should have accomplished in 1945."

McKeldin Says Governor Lane Shifts Suddenly

Contends His Foe Led By Bosses

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin contended tonight Governor Lane, "after four years of open, notorious and total surrender to the bosses," has suddenly come out with the announcement he intends to represent the people.

In an address delivered over radio and television, the Republican candidate for governor predicted this "halo of political purity will fool no one."

He reviewed the recent firing of a police judge by Lane "not for any fault in performing his official duties, but because x x he would not agree to a deal Mr. Lane made with one faction instead of another."

"For years Mr. Lane's mind has been so taken up with political deals he is in a rut," McKeldin continued "He still thinks that his salvation lies in winning bosses to his cause."

The GOP nominee asserted Lane sponsored a bill to turn the State Roads Commission into a political body which he could hire and fire at will.

He also criticized the governor's dismissing "such valuable public servants as Mr. George P. Mahoney (defeated Democratic candidate for governor) from the State Racing Commission."

After he finally does fill some of the many empty positions in the state's appointive list, McKeldin added, the governor "often fails to follow their advice."

He mentioned specifically the Bowman Commission's report and the Highway Advisory Board.

Progress Noted On Frostburg Factory Plans

Definite progress is being made toward a new factory for the Michael Berkowitz Pajama Company in Frostburg, Richardson Wood, industrial consultant, told members of the Cumberland Industrial Development Corporation yesterday.

Wood, consultant for the City and County Industrial Development Committee, also presented a full report of industrial development activities.

Wood said prospects for the new factory building in Frostburg are "very good."

Wood, accompanied by Miss Virginia Keyser, a member of his staff, was busy yesterday getting sites lined up for the new clothing factory.

He said Charles L. Herath, local engineer, has been engaged to make estimates and preliminary plans on the basis of requirements listed by the Berkowitz firm.

Following yesterday afternoon's meeting at the Chamber of Commerce office, Wood conferred with Arthur Morgan, president of Free State Art Plastics, Inc., on future plans for that firm.

Wood said he has been stressing, in industrial contacts, the fact that the Cumberland area has a surplus of trained labor and is in a favored location in relation to atomic attacks.

Snyder Lists Failures Of Administration

W. Va. Candidate Says GOP Must Win In Nov.

On November 7 veterans of World War II, their families and their friends, should vote against the Truman administration and all who support it because that administration has failed to win the peace that all veterans fought for, Melvin C. Snyder, Republican candidate for Congress, said last night at a rally in the Wadestown School, Morgantown, W. Va. The Kingwood attorney and veteran of two World Wars said the Truman administration failed to win the peace because of incompetence, lack of vision, and appeasement to Russia.

"A little over five years ago, we had the unconditional surrender of our three major enemies. We had the greatest military force in the world. This nation was presented with the opportunity of winning that peace for which we had expended so much of our human and material resources in that war."

Instead of seizing the opportunity to insure peace, Snyder said, the Truman administration "turned over to Russia many of the nations we had freed, because the Truman administration was taken with the idea that 'Old Joe was a good fellow.' President Truman said, 'I like Old Joe,' and every time people with their eyes open to the threat of communism tried to warn the American people, President Truman said they were dragging a 'red herring,' across the trail," Snyder continued.

"As a result of this appeasement policy, we agreed that Manchuria should go to the Communists, and we agreed to the division of Korea and the outright gift to Russia of the Kurile Islands. As a result of that appeasement, and the bungling and contradiction, we are cleaning up a campaign in Korea today. Only yesterday the papers announced that we were sending more divisions overseas to do again the job we should have accomplished in 1945."
